Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Trust Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual ices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. ns 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity naturity. Where two figures appear, as for instance 4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yield- the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has pened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of rn and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." Fact is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added ount in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF MARCH—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

March proved a disappointing month, like so many previous months, in failing to disclose any definite or pronounced indications of trade revival or any sign affording promise of progress in that direction. Whatever evidence appeared of greater activity in certain lines of business seemed to be seasonal in character, rather than indicative of a turn in the tide after a prolonged period of poor trade and bad times. The month had one development to its credit calculated to strengthen confidence, but unfortunately the expectations built on it of an immediate quickening in trade were not realized. The concluding session of the old Congress terminated at the statutory time, on Mar. 4, and adjournment occurred, too, after the passage of the appropriation bills and all the other immediately urgent measures, so that the President was relieved of the necessity, which, above everything else, he had desired to avoid, and which everybody dreaded, of convening the new Congress in extra session. This meant that the country would be free at least from legislative and political disturbances for nine months, or until the new Congress meets in regular session the coming December. This was most assuredly no mean advantage at a time when the country was struggling to emerge from a prolonged business depression of a most pronounced type, and was so admitted by most well informed persons, though it failed of the promise counted upon.

On the other hand, the adjournment of Congress brought some new and weighty problems for the Administration at Washington to grapple with. Foremost among these problems was unquestionably that of Treasury financing. Government revenues were declining and were destined to suffer a further heavy reduction, because of the diminished yield of the Federal income taxes (the first installment of which became due Mar. 15), based on the income and profits of the calendar year 1930, which, in so many instances, had been reduced almost to the vanishing point, and in other instances had been completely extinguished and replaced by losses. At the end of the month Treasury officials estimated that the total yield of these income taxes would show a loss of $560,000,000 as compared with those of the previous year, notwithstanding that the rate of the income tax levy was heavier than in the previous year because of the omission of the rebate granted individuals and corporations in that year. The loss showed what an important item dwindling revenues constituted in the task of Treasury financing. But this formed only one phase of the problem. Through the enactment of soldier bonus legislation, over the veto of the President, as narrated in our review for the month of February, Congress imposed an entirely new burden upon the executive branch of the Government and upon the taxpayers of the country. It is unnecessary to repeat here the facts and figures given by us the previous month as to the amount of cash required for purpose of making the 50% loans upon the adjusted service certificates of the war veterans authorized by Congress. Suffice it to say that the Administrator of Veteran Affairs calculated that a full $1,000,000,000 would be required, and Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury, figured that for the immediate present he must raise $300,000,000 extra cash for the purpose, and this was the amount included by the Treasury in its mid-March program of financing. But applications for loans kept coming in so fast that on Mar. 17 Mr. Mellon found himself obliged to say, in response to advices from Brigadier-General Frank F. Hines, Administrator of Veteran Affairs, that "for the purpose of making loans applied for up to Mar. 14 the Treasury Department will be called upon to furnish approximately $500,000,000 by April 11, including the $100,000,000, more or less, loaned since the new law went into effect."

In addition to all this, the Secretary of the Treasury had six months previously, before he had an inkling of the ticklish situation he would be obliged to face, called for redemption prior to maturity $1,100,000,000 of 3½% Treasury notes, with the purpose of effecting a saving in interest through the operation. Provision had now to be made for taking up this $1,100,000,000 of Treasury notes on Mar. 15. Fortunately the whole matter was managed with consummate skill by Mr. Mellon. The details of the operation are given at length further along in this article, under a separate heading devoted, as is our custom, to the Treasury's financing for the month. By reference to the discussion there given, it will be seen that the Secretary undertook to raise altogether $1,400,000,000, and very cleverly divided the amount up among three distinct classes of obligations by offering two series of certificates of indebtedness, one running for six month for amount of $300,000,000 bearing only 1½% interest per annum, the lowest rate named in any offering of certificates (the Secretary thus taking advantage of the plethora of short-term funds with which the money and investment markets have been congested for so long), and another series of certificates running for a full year for amount of $600,000,000 and bearing 2% interest per annum, and also provided for the issuance of $500,000,000 Treasury bonds bearing 3⅜% interest and maturing Mar. 15 1943, but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after Mar. 15 1941. It will also, in that place, be seen what an unqualified success this piece of financing proved, subscriptions being received for more than 2½ times the total of the $1,400,000,000 of securities offered, or for a grand aggregate of $3,735,604,300, out of which the Secretary made allotments footing up $1,518,261,500. Thus in the end Treasury financing, by skillful handling, became one of the favorable developments of the month, and to that extent should, along with the adjournment of Congress, have served to speed the coming of trade revival.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD—RESIGNATION OF CHAIRMAN LEGGE—STABILIZATION OF WHEAT PRICES TO BE DISCONTINUED.

Developments regarding the Federal Farm Board and its operations were also highly important, though the precise effects of these must remain for the future to determine. In accordance with previous announcement, Alexander Legge resigned as Chairman of the Board, and on Mar. 6 President Hoover accepted his resignation and James C. Stone was named by the President to succeed him. Mr. Hoover said he was certain he reflected the view of the agricultural community when he expressed intense regret at Mr. Legge's retirement. From Washington advices it appeared that Mr. Legge had sent his resignation to the White House nearly two weeks before, and that Mr. Hoover attempted to persuade him to remain in office another year. Mr. Legge himself said that his resignation from the Board was a mere formality, that, as a matter of fact, he had been working on overtime for nearly eight months, it having been clearly understood when he accepted the position that it was for a one-year period in helping to get the organization set up and the work started. Mr. Legge also expressed the opinion that the program had progressed to a point where the organization might be safely considered as a going concern. For some time previous to Mr. Legge's withdrawal there had been reports that the Board contemplated a change of policy, at least as far as concerned unlimited purchases of wheat for maintaining home prices above the world market levels, and these reports were now to find confirmation. Mr. Stone, the new Chairman, immediately after his appointment, in a statement issued Mar. 8, was at some pains to state that the policy formulated by the Board would be continued unchanged. But to anyone reading between the lines of the announcement it seemed perfectly plain that some modification was contemplated when circumstances should permit such a course. This appeared from the fact that Mr. Stone, in discussing the action of the Board in having made purchases of wheat, constantly referred to it as purely emergency relief, thereby conveying the distinct impression that in the ordinary course it would not be the policy of the Board to engage in market dealings, but rather that it would be the aim to get the farmer to act on his own behalf through the co-operative agencies, the Farm Board devoting itself mainly to seeing that the farmer obtained the proper credit facilities in order that these co-operative agencies might fully and freely function. Mr. Stone, while averring that the general policy of the Board had been formulated by the Board as a whole, rather than by Mr. Legge alone, did not hesitate to declare without qualification that "plans heretofore adopted will be carried out without change," adding that "this applies particularly to the present operations of the Grain Stabilization Corp. and the Cotton Stabilization Corp." He at the same time, however, took occasion to emphasize the point that all this was in the nature of dealing with emergencies and did not reflect the underlying purpose of the Agricultural Marketing Act from which the Board derived its authority, nor the normal policy and procedure of the Board, when unhampered by emergencies over which the Board had no control, and dealing with which was foreign to the main purpose of the Act. Thus, among other things, Mr. Stone went on to say:

"The public generally and the business men in particular have so far largely judged the Farm Board's activities by what has been done in wheat and cotton stabilization. Although these operations are purely emergency, growing out of this present situation, and are important, they are by no means as important as the many other things the Board has done which the public seems to know but little about.

"Out of the experience of the Farm Board has developed the conviction that farmers cannot meet their business problems except through organization. It is hopeless to expect that 6,500,000 producing units can individually maintain a profitable level of operation in a society where organization is the rule. Accomplishments in marketing and in the adjustment of production will be small as long as farmers seek to deal with these problems as individuals.

"It is, therefore, the major task and policy of the Farm Board to assist in the economic organization of agriculture. Up to the present time the co-operative method of organization has been found to be the most effective and best adapted to the needs of the farmers. The Agricultural Marketing Act commits the Government definitely to the support of agricultural co-operation. Therefore, the Federal Farm Board, under the mandate given it by that law, is devoting the major part of its energies and funds to the development of an organized agriculture.

"With the increasing growth of co-operative organizations, the Board looks forward hopefully to the accomplishment of two major objectives:

"1. Development of a marketing system operating in the interest of the producer—the elimination of wastes and unnecessary costs, the improvement of grading, packing and processing of the product, elimination of the evils of competitive selling and establishment of an organized system of selling supported by complete market and economic information which will enable co-operatives to deal with the buyers on a basis of equality.

"2. Through co-operative organization also the Board expects to see brought about consistent progress toward the goal of the adjustment of production to potential demand. It believes that an adequate co-operative marketing system will enable the organized farmer who intelligently plans his farm operations to obtain for his products the maximum price which economic conditions justify.

"The efforts of the Board since it was established on July 15 1929 have been mainly directed toward nation-wide development of the co-operative movement with a view to unifying, so far as practicable, sales activities of organizations handling the same commodity. During this period financial assistance has been extended to 101 associations, many of which are national or regional marketing agencies with their memberships composed of hundreds of local co-operative units. The purpose of this aid has been to strengthen these organizations, to enable them to render more efficient service to their members, to co-ordinate their activities with those of other associations handling the same commodity, and in many cases to assist in the setting up of a national sales agency for the commodity.

"I wish to emphasize that loans are not made primarily to provide funds at a low rate of interest for co-operative associations. At the present time, as a matter of fact, co-operative associations are obtaining the greater part of their finances from private sources, and it is right that they should. The Federal Farm Board can only provide supplemental funds. Loans are made by the Board for the single purpose of assisting in the development of a national co-operative system of marketing for agriculture.

"We believe that the ultimate goal of farm organization is to organize by commodities, first, into locals, then into regionals, and then into national sales agencies. Seven of these national sales agencies have been organized with the assistance of the Board and are now functioning.

"Some of the objects of these national sales agencies are to regulate the flow of the commodity to market in an orderly way, to furnish the grower with accurate market information, to assist in regulating production to demand, to prove quality and encourage the production of the character of the commodity most in demand, to concentrate the bargaining power of the individual into the hands of his own sales agency, which tends to place him on a parity with the buyer, and to develop adequate and sufficient credit facilities at reasonable interest rates for members, in sections where needed.

"We think this program is fundamentally sound. We believe the farmers are beginning to realize that it is up to them to develop it. Neither the Farm Board nor any other Government agency can do it for them. The Farm Board can help, and will, but the work will have to be done by the farmers themselves."

From the foregoing the conclusion was inescapable that the Board had it in mind to get away from emergency action as quickly as circumstances should permit. We make this statement because when the Board finally took the step it had in contemplation the action appeared to come in the nature of a surprise, at least in the grain markets. The step did involve a change of policy, and the announcement came in a statement made public Sunday night Mar. 22. The Farm Board announced that its wheat buying policy would be adhered to only so far as the 1930 crop was concerned, but that "the Federal Farm Board will not cause the Grain Stabilization Corporation to make stabilization purchases from the 1931 wheat crop." It was expressly stated that "there will be no alteration or change in the policy of the Grain Stabilization Corporation with reference to the 1930 crop." The Board pointed out that since last November the Grain Stabilization Corporation had been purchasing sufficient wheat to maintain prices in the United States, and that because of this prices in this country had ranged some 20 to 35c. above their usual relationship to world market prices, and that this policy had been adopted to meet a most acute emergency. It had "made wheat growers many millions of dollars, and a large additional amount to growers of other grains." Farmers had also gained, it was stated, "by prevention of a threatened additional shock to business in general." However, stabilization operations were emergency measures and entailed a heavy cost. The Grain Stabilization Corp. had acquired and was acquiring very large stocks of wheat. It could not indefinitely buy more than it sells or indefinitely hold what it had bought.

It could not follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market, paying heavy storage charges, and selling below cost. The Board's statement in full is as follows:

For many months the Federal Farm Board and the Department of Agriculture have been urging wheat farmers to reduce acreage as a means of correcting the disastrously low prices that have resulted from increased acreage and overproduction.

It has been pointed out that if we continue to raise a large surplus of wheat beyond domestic requirements, growers in the United States will be obliged to take prices that largely are determined by what our exportable surplus will bring on world markets.

Since last November the Grain Stabilization Corp. has been purchasing sufficient wheat to maintain prices in this country. Because of this our prices have ranged some 20 to 35c. above their usual relationship to world market prices. This policy was adopted to meet a most acute emergency. It has made wheat growers many millions of dollars, and a large additional amount to growers of other grains. Farmers have also gained by prevention of a threatened additional shock to business in general.

Stabilization operations are emergency measures and entail a heavy cost. The Grain Stabilization Corp. has acquired and is acquiring very large stocks of wheat. It cannot indefinitely buy more than it sells or indefinitely hold what is has bought. It cannot follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market, paying heavy storage charges, and selling below cost. Farmers know this and would not ask that it be done. It would not be, in the long run, in the farmers' own interest.

It is too early now to set forth in detail what the sales policy of the Grain Stabilization Corp. will be in the new crop year, except to say that stabilization supplies of wheat will be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices.

It should be stated now, however, that the Federal Farm Board will not cause the Grain Stabilization Corp. to make stabilization purchases from the 1931 wheat crop. There will be no alteration or change in the policy of the Grain Stabilization Corp. with reference to the 1930 crop.

In the light of the foregoing facts, growers must recognize the responsibility that rests upon them. The Federal Farm Board is encouraged by reports from the principal wheat-producing regions that growers are organizing to reduce acreage and market co-operatively. These and efficient production are the surest means of permanent relief.

Some progress has been made, but it is only a beginning. The movement must be carried to all farmers in all regions. Spring planting of wheat is at hand. Let farmers in that region heed the warning to reduce acreage, and as planting time in other regions rolls around farmers there should do the same.

The first effect of the announcement was to precipitate a violent break in the grain markets on Monday, Mar. 23, that is, in the case of the future deliveries for the new crop, to which the Board has at no time been extending support. The stock market likewise weakened considerably, though later a different view of the matter was taken, the matured opinion being that in the long run the action would be beneficial to the farmer and the general public alike. The July option for wheat at Chicago, which on Saturday, Mar. 21, had been selling at a range of 62⅛@62½c., dropped on Monday to 59½c., and on Tuesday touched 58½c., the lowest point reached since 1895, after which moderate recovery occurred. At Winnipeg the course of prices was closely similar. On the other hand, prices for the near options, the options on the old crop in which the Farm Board has been conducting its activities, were unaffected, as was to be expected, the Board having announced its purpose to see the old crop through. The May option, for instance, at Chicago was 82¾@83c. on Saturday, Mar. 21, and did not vary greatly from that range on any day the week following. The same is true of the March option, which actually moved a little higher.

The Farm Board gave out no information as to the extent of its holdings of wheat, but these were estimated as in excess of 200,000,000 bushels, some claiming that the total would stand as high as 275,000,000 bushels at the end of the crop season, when all the deliveries have been made on the options for future delivery which the Farm Board, through the Grain Stabilization Corp., contracted to purchase. A considerable portion of its holdings was acquired at as high as $1.25 a bushel, and the average price of its holdings is estimated as being in the neighborhood of 92c. a bushel, to which storage charges are adding an average of 1½c. a month, or at the rate of 18c. a year, so that the ultimate loss will be very heavy, should the Board finally succeed in disposing of the whole of its heavy load. In the last analysis it had to be admitted that the Board had essayed an impossible task. It had really come to the end of its tether, since the whole of the $400,000,000 appropriation made up to date out of the revolving fund of $500,000,000 granted it had been exhausted, though the remaining $100,000,000 was to become available after July 1.

On all these points Senator McNary (Rep., Ore.), Chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, in newspaper interviews Mar. 23 and Mar. 24 expressed himself as follows after arguing that the Stabilization Plan should be continued with some modification for another year:

"The Board will have, by July 1, 250,000,000 or 275,000,000 bushels of wheat tied up, purchased at an average cost of 92c. a bushel, or 31c. above the world price," Senator McNary said.

"The Board decided that it did not have adequate capital to continue its stabilization system in 1931, and that sufficient storage facilities for holding its present surplus, and the 1931 wheat that would be offered, did not exist. It was confronted with the proposition, in another year, of an increased surplus and of inadequate storage facilities.

"There appears, at present, to be no way of disposing of the surplus. The question before the Board was what was to be done with the purchased wheat and that of the 1931 crop, if 1931 wheat were bought, in the face of a world surplus?

"Attempts to sell in foreign countries met with a threat that an embargo would be placed on American goods if subsidized wheat was sent into their countries at prices below the world prices.

"Another way was to store the wheat already bought and contracted for, plus the 1931 wheat, if bought, and release it gradually over a period of years here and in other countries. This would require additional storage facilities, and the carrying cost of wheat at 1½c. a bushel per month would double the original cost. These are the factors that led the Board to its action."

In stating his opinion in regard to the matter, Senator McNary said that this would appear to him as the only course left open to the Board. The matter of financing the holdings, he said, is not of great importance, although it has been stated that of the $400,000,000 appropriated for the Board, but $50,000,000 remains available at the present time. However, an additional $100,000,000 was appropriated in the last session of Congress to be made available July 1, and with the $50,000,000 the Board could easily carry the 275,000,000 bushels for a period of about three years, it was stated.

Senator McNary called attention to the fact that the Board, in its statement Monday, stated its stabilization supplies will be handled in such a manner as to impose a minimum burden upon domestic or world prices. The Board already is investigating possibilities of renting or otherwise acquiring sufficient storage facilities to remove the wheat indefinitely from the market, he said. Though it lacks funds to continue stabilization into the 1931 crop year, the Board has ample money to provide for storage, he explained."

From Chicago advices, Mar. 24, to the New York "Times" we also take the following, which has reference to the announcement made the previous month that the Farm Board contemplated selling 35,000,000 bushels of its accumulations of wheat in the near future:

Definite information was given to the grain and milling trade to-day as to the Grain Stabilization Corp.'s policy regarding its holdings of old-crop grain until the end of the current crop year. Effective April 1 it will offer for sale No. 2 hard winter wheat at Chicago at 82½c. a bushel, with an advance of ½c. on April 10 and ½c. more every 10 days thereafter until June 30, which will terminate the crop season. Nothing was said regarding wheat futures.

The Corporation confined itself to quoting a selling price for the grain, but men who are regarded as being in a position to know pointed out that the advance of ½c. a bushel every 10 days after April 1 covered storage and other charges on the cash grain and might be taken as definitely placing the corporation in a position of not competing with new-crop grain and furthermore giving mills and others a guarantee that they could obtain cash wheat at a price without having to scramble for it.

The action of the Board had sharp repercussions in political quarters. The debenture plan for aiding the farmer was again brought forward in some quarters, and there was a general demand for some kind of bounty. Senator Watson (Rep., Ind.), Senate Republican floor leader, said the only answer to the problem was the equalization fee principle. Demand also came for an extra session of Congress to act on unemployment and farm and other problems from Senator Nye, Rep. of North Dakota. From Canada announcement came that Sir Josiah Stamp was to head the Canadian Royal Grain Commission which is to inquire into the grain situation in general, and, in particular, trading in futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. At the Interprovincial Conference of Wheat Pool Directors, in session at Regina, Mar. 13, a resolution was unanimously adopted declaring:

"That this conference be in favor of an arrangement between all the wheat-producing countries to provide for the orderly marketing of wheat, in such a manner that will make for scientific distribution of the world's wheat, and deal with surpluses intelligently on an equitable basis, so that at all times supplies will have a relationship to demand, in the interests of both producer and consumer."

The European Grain Conference also continued its deliberations. Washington advices, under date of Mar. 9, stated that the Administration at Washington had declined to participate in an international conference to be held under the auspices of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, beginning Mar. 26. Newspaper dispatches with reference to the matter, under date of Mar. 9, said:

"After consultation with the appropriate officers of this Government and after due consideration of the various questions involved," an announcement by the State Department to-day said, "this Government has declined the invitation of the institute, the reason being that this Government does not consider that an international wheat conference at this time would accomplish anything of value to American producers."

Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the Federal Farm Board, was reported in the "United States Daily" of Mar. 10 as also having stated that this country would not be represented at the Rome conference, that paper further stating:

The policy of the Board as outlined in its program of holding down wheat production to domestic requirements, he said, expresses the Government's position regarding international wheat policies. Participation in the conference, Mr. McKelvie said, would tend to confuse people here and abroad respecting the Board's policy not to promote the nation's position as a wheat exporter. Consequently, the invitation extended to this country to take part in the conference has been refused, he stated.

The conference is a preparatory convention to the Second World Grain Conference which takes place in 1932, it was declared at the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture.

Premier Benito Mussolini on Mar. 26 formally opened at Rome the world conference on grain, arranged by the International Institute of Agriculture. Delegates of 46 nations gathered in the Italian capital to study ways and means of correcting the dislocation between production and consumption. Although the Institute was established by an American, the United States Government was not represented for the reason already given. Several Americans were in unofficial attendance. Of particular significance was the presence at the gathering of a large delegation from Soviet Russia, which has assumed great importance again as a grain exporting country. Strong delegations also were sent by the other important grain exporting States, such as Canada, Australia, and the Argentine. Among the questions before the conference were means of reducing wheat production and increasing its consumption, reduction of costs of transportation and exchange, and improvement in credit facilities. In his opening address before the gathering, Signor Mussolini expressed the view that the world wheat crisis is due rather to underconsumption than to overproduction. It would be rash, for this reason, he said, to call for limitation of cultivation of cereals. Bread, he admitted, has been displaced to a degree by other types of foods in the diet of many people. "To-day's splendid meeting," the Premier remarked, "is a proof of the existence of good-will and the possibility of collaboration among the States in a field in which the insuperable force of social progress should be kept far above the unrestrained workings of purely individualistic economic conceptions."

COURSE OF GRAIN PRICES.

The grain markets were naturally under the influence of these various happenings, though except in the case of the announcement by the Federal Farm Board of its contemplated abandonment of its stabilization policy, the effect was not very pronounced. The nearby options, that is, the options on the old crop up to and including May, did not suffer at all as a result of the Farm Board's announcement, this announcement distinctly stating that stabilization operations would be continued in the old crop deliveries. As a consequence, the fluctuations in both the March option and the May option were very narrow, as in previous months, though slightly higher, March wheat at Chicago being quoted at 81⅞@82¼c. Mar. 31 against 79½c. Monday, Mar. 2, and the May option at 84@84⅝c. Mar. 31 against 82½@82⅞c. Mar. 2. The later options, however—those covering the deliveries on the new crop—suffered bad breaks, as already related. The July wheat option at Chicago, which had sold at 65⅛c. Mar. 4, and which even then was quoted at about 18c. a bushel lower than the May option, tumbled on Mar. 24 to 58½c., at which figure it was over 24c. a bushel lower than the May option, but recovered somewhat thereafter, and on Mar. 31 sold at 59⅝@61c. The September wheat option at Chicago sold down from 65¼c. Mar. 4 to 59c. Mar. 24, and was 59@60c. Mar. 31. At Winnipeg, where the price, under normal conditions, rules higher than at Chicago, the May wheat option, after touching 61¼c. Mar. 12, was down to 56½c. Mar. 24, with the range for Mar. 31 at 56¾@57⅝c. The July wheat option at Winnipeg, after advancing the early part of the month to 63c. Mar. 12, dropped to 58c. Mar. 24, and was 58⅛@59⅛c. Mar. 31. Corn prices were inclined to move upward before the announcement of the change in policy by the Farm Board. Thus March corn was quoted at 63½c. Mar. 10 as against 60c. Mar. 2, and was 60⅝@62⅜c. Mar. 31. May corn rose from 63⅞c. Mar. 2 to 67⅛c. Mar. 9, but in the tumble fell to 61¾c. Mar. 30, and ranged at 62⅝@63⅛c. Mar. 31. Oats prices moved within narrow limits, with the range for March oats at Chicago 31½@31⅞c. Mar. 31 against 32@32½c. Mar. 2.

COURSE OF SUGAR AND COFFEE PRICES.

In sugar, where another experiment in price fixing is under way, manifestation of weakness the early part of the month was overcome the latter part. Cuban raw sugar, as against 1.32c. Feb. 25, sold as low as 1.20c. Mar. 16, but recovered to 1.35c. Mar. 24, and was 1.33c. Mar. 31. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this market, which had been maintained at 4.50c. the greater part of February, was on Mar. 5 reduced by all the leading refiners to 4.40c., but was back again to 4.50c. by the close of the month. Consummation of the provisional accord reached by European and other sugar producing countries in January was the object of a conference in Paris, called on Mar. 30 by Thomas L. Chadbourne in behalf of the Cuban delegation. The sugar exporting countries represented at this meeting included Cuba, Java, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, and Belgium. These were the countries signatory to the provisional agreement of Jan. 8 1931 fixing export quotas for the next five years. The period which had elapsed since the date of the provisional agreement had been occupied in a study of details of the administration of the plan and the purpose of this conference was to effect agreement concerning these details.

A cablegram from Berlin, Mar. 22, stated that the German sugar industry had succeeded in reaching a final agreement on production quotas, and that an ordinance designed to give legal force to the quotas thus fixed had already been delivered by the National Government to the Reichsrat for its necessary approval. Earlier in the month it was stated that the Dutch Indian Government had voted a bill restricting sugar exports by Java for a period not exceeding five years; also that this action marked the definite commitment of Java to participate in world stabilization of the sugar industry under the Chadbourne Plan.

Coffee prices continued to rule extremely low, owing to the demoralization of Brazilian exchange and the world-wide overproduction. President Vargas of Brazil on Mar. 3 signed a decree giving official Government sanction to an International Coffee Congress in Sao Paulo. A message from Sao Paulo, Mar. 4, stated it would be the first Coffee Congress since 1902, which was held in New York and attended by all the coffee producing countries. The problems to be discussed were crop limitation, improvement of quality and methods, and the opening of new markets. Invitations were sent to all important countries. The Santos Coffee Exchange, which had been closed since the previous Oct. 6, owing to the Brazilian revolution, was reopened for trading in coffee futures on Mar. 4. The Rio Coffee Exchange, Brazil's other coffee futures market, also closed on Oct. 6 1930, has not yet been reopened. No. 7 Rio in this market was quoted at 5½c. Mar. 31 against 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31. No. 7 Santos was quoted at 7⅞@8c. Mar. 31 against 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11@11¼c. Oct. 31 1930.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS—MEASURES PASSED.

The record for the 71st Congress was closed, Mar. 4, with adjournment of the third and final session. The "United States Daily" says that the final session of the House was used to dispose of several measures held by its majority leaders to be essential, while the last session of the Senate saw only one piece of legislation regarded as important pass through the final stages. This was a joint resolution appropriating $5,000,000 towards construction of additional veterans' hospitals that were authorized in a bill finally acted on in the House an hour earlier. Adoption of a resolution to notify the President that the House and Senate were ready to adjourn was the last act of the House, but that resolution failed to receive the attention of the Senate, where Senator Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma, held the floor and would not permit action. Senator Thomas was on his feet continuously from the hour the Senate convened, at 9 a. m., until the Vice-President's announcement of adjournment, demanding a vote on his resolution (S. 418) for an inquiry into the oil industry. He had discussed the oil problems two hours during the preceding night session, and had permitted a recess at 1:15 a. m., Mar. 4, only under an agreement that he be recognized when the recess expired. Consequently, President Hoover receivd no formal notification of the intention of the House and Senate to quit business, nor was he formally advised of their adjournment, as has been done heretofore at the end of sessions or of Congress.

The end of the Congress saw the death of numerous pieces of legislation on which there had been recurring demands for action. Among these was the so-called maternity bill (S. 255), which the House had rewritten. The conference report on this measure was the pending business when the adjournment came. Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, in charge of the measure, had held it before the Senate constantly during the last 10 hours of the session, despite attempts of various Senators to persuade him to withdraw the measure. Another bill that failed was the Vestal Copyright Act (H. R. 12549) which had passed the House and had been before the Senate intermittently during the last two weeks. Many admendments had been added by the Senate Committee on Patents, but Senate action had been taken on only a few of them before the conference report on the maternity bill was brought in.

Attempts of Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, to bring the resolution (H. J. Res. 500) providing a restriction of immigration for two years before the Senate in the last two days of the session were blocked. The resolution had reached the calendar, a motion of the Pennsylvania Senator to discharge the Committee on Immigration from further consideration of it being carried. Among other bills dying on the calendar was one (S. 3822) for the independence of the Philippine Islands. Another was a bill (S. 2497) to amend the Judicial Code in order to limit the power of injunction. Senator Capper (Rep.), of Kansas, attempted during the last two days to obtain consideration of a bill (S. 5818) to limit oil importations, but failed, and the bill died on the calendar. Included among subjects on the table was the resolution (S. J. Res. 261) introduced by Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, to provide $100,000,000 for relief of unemployed persons.

The Rogers hospitalization bill (H. R. 16982) on which the House finally yielded to the Senate, was the outstanding legislation of the final day of Congress. When Representative Luce (Rep.), of Waltham, Mass., finally came into the House from a hitherto deadlocked conference on the measure and moved the House agree to the Senate amendment substituting its lump sum plan of more than $20,000,000 of authorization for additional hospital facilities on a lump sum basis for the original House proposal of an allocated $12,500,000, the House cheered wildly, it is stated, and the legislation was written into statute law just before the session ended. Immediately Congress appropriated $5,000,000 toward the $20,000,000 program.

A last-hour effort to get an appropriation of $1,725,000 for Federal participation in the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, already passed by the Senate, failed to become law.

The Norris so-called "lame duck" resolution, which would provide for a constitutional amendment incorporating reforms in the sittings of Congress, died on Feb. 28 as a result of disagreement between Senate and House conferees. The conference broke up when the House conferees refused to withdraw their support from an amendment to the resolution introduced by Speaker Longworth which would have limited the second session of Congress to four months, beginning on Jan. 4 of even-numbered years. Senator Norris, backed by Senator Borah, stood equally firm in his demand for an unlimited second session. Under Senator Norris's resolution the new Congress would meet on Jan. 4 of the year following the election in November. The President would be inaugurated about two weeks later. The first session of Congress would be unlimited and it would meet for another unlimited session the following Jan. 4, to run, if it so desired, until the first of the next year, when the new Congress would take office. Thus the gap of 13 months between election and first meetings of Congresses that now obtains would be eliminated.

All pending proposals to amend the law which automatically reapportions the representation of the States in the membership of the House of Representatives after Mar. 4 were tabled by the House Committee on the Census Feb. 27. The membership of the House will continue at 435 as at present, but with an increase in the number of Representatives from some States and decrease in some of the others. As a result of the tabling of the amendments the reapportionment announced by President Hoover in November 1930 on the basis of the 1930 census went into effect at noon on Mar. 4. Under it 21 States lose 27 seats to 11 States.

No changes in either the Federal Reserve Act or the National Banking Act were made at the final session of the 71st Congress, said the "United States Daily", from which the following is also taken:

Only one amendment (H. R. 12063) to the Federal Farm Loan Act was passed, permitting the acquisition of Joint Stock Land Banks in receivership by going banks of the same type, the consolidated institution, however, not to operate in more than five States, and such States to be contiguous.

Among the banking bills which failed of passage were the so-called "bank slander bill" (H. R. 10560) which would have made it a Federal offense to circulate false rumors about the financial condition of National banks and members of the Federal Reserve System; the measure known as the "Goodwin" bill (H. R. 12490) which would have amended Section 5219 United States Revised Statutes, governing the taxation of National banks by the States; the "Letts" bill (H. R. 9433) providing for the enforcement of double liability against shareholders of joint stock land banks by receivers thereof; a number of bills having as their object the establishment of a moratorium on payments by farmer-borrowers to the Federal land banks and Intermediate Credit Banks, and a cessation of foreclosures; several measures providing for distribution of a greater share of the earnings of Reserve Banks to their members; and a bill (S. 2605) putting State member banks on the same footing with National banks as regards the right to establish foreign branches.

A bill (S. 4723) introduced by Senator Glass, providing for a number of changes in the banking laws of the country, was made use of as a tentative proposal, upon which to base the hearings conducted by a subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, under the Chairmanship of Senator Glass, into the operations of the Federal Reserve System, and banking and credit conditions generally. The hearings were held under authority of a resolution which authorized a continuance of the sub-committee activity during the next session, and during recesses as well.

A number of questionnaires were sent out to banks for statistical data, and a series of witnesses was asked to appear personally before the sub-committee. During the recess, it has been announced, the material collected will be subjected to analysis by a group of specialists under the direction of H. Parker Willis, of Columbia University, and a redraft of the bill prepared for introduction next session.

Hearings on branch, chain and group banking conducted by the House Committee on Banking and Currency in the second session were not continued in the third, but authorization was granted for printing the full testimony, some of which has not yet appeared in printed form.

Financial Measure Passed.

Among financial measures passed is the bill (H. R. 16111) providing for an increase of $8,000,000,000 in the Treasury's borrowing power for refinancing purposes. The original limit of $20,000,000,000 set by war-time legislation had been almost reached, and the action was necessary, according to Treasury officials, to take care of the refinancing of maturing issues. An attempt to exempt the interest on the bonds to be issued under the new authorization from the surtax failed, and it is accordingly to be exempt from the normal income tax only.

VETO OF MUSCLE SHOALS BILL—VETO SUSTAINED.

President Hoover's veto, on Mar. 3, of the Muscle Shoals bill and the failure of the Senate to override the veto was referred to in our review of the previous month. The vote was 34 to uphold the veto and 49 to override—not the necessary two-thirds. The President's message was a strong document. Mr. Hoover does not think that Government should undertake to compete with private enterprise except in cases of extreme emergency, when no other alternativ exists which, however, does not mean that Government should not undertake to regulate power concerns within legitimate limits. In the present Muscle Shoals instance he also saw an invasion of the rights reserved to the States. He went into a critical analysis of the whole Muscle Shoals measure as contained in the joint resolution passed by Congress and showed that it was in every way impractical and would involve the Government in such large outlays as to make the cost of the power generated far in excess of that at which it could be furnished by private enterprise. He pointed out that though the bill provided that the President, for a period of 12 months, might negotiate a lease of the nitrate plants for fertilizer manufacture, this was under such limitations as to make it entirely impractical for private concerns to put in any bid. He directed attention to some unusual and really amusing provisions in the bill. Thus the bill provided:

"All members of the Board shall be persons that profess a belief in the feasibility and wisdom, having in view the national defense and the encouragement of inter-State commerce, of producing fixed nitrogen under this Act of such kinds and at such prices as to induce the reasonable expectation that the farmers will buy said products and that by reason thereof the corporation may be a self-sustaining and continuing success."

After quoting the foregoing paragraph, the President went on to say:

"In other words, they are to say that they believe in Government manufacture of fertilizers and that it can be made a success on this set-up. We are thus supposed to appoint business administrators on the basis of their beliefs rather than their experience and competency. These directors are manifestly to have a political complexion and apparently the entire working force is likewise to have such a complexion, as the usual provision for the merit service required by law in most other Federal activities is omitted. Three men able to conduct a $150,000,000 business cannot be found to meet these specifications."

The President concluded with the following declarations:

"This bill raises one of the important issues confronting our people. That is squarely the issue of Federal Government ownership and operation of power and manufacturing business, not as a minor by-product, but as a major purpose. Involved in this question is the agitation against the conduct of the power industry. The power problem is not to be solved by the Federal Government going into the power business, nor is it to be solved by the project in this bill. The remedy for abuses in the conduct of that industry lies in regulation and not by the Federal Government entering upon the business itself.

"I have recommended to the Congress on various occasions that action should be taken to establish Federal regulation of inter-State power in co-operation with State authorities. This bill would launch the Federal Government upon a basis of competition instead of by the proper Government function—regulation for the protection of all the people. I hesitate to contemplate the future of our institutions, of our Government, and of our country if the preoccupation of its officials is to be no longer the promotion of justice and equal opportunity, but is to be devoted to barter in the markets. That is not liberalism; it is degeneration."

OTHER PRESIDENTIAL VETOES.

On Feb. 23 President Hoover sent to the House of Representatives two veto messages. One disapproved of a measure to provide veterans' hospital facilities to civilians who had been connected with the Quartermaster Corps, and another bill would give World War veterans' benefits to an alien (Joseph Marko) dismissed from the army at his own request because he was an alien. In its account of the President's action the "Times" said:

The benefits of hospitalization and the privileges of the Federal soldiers' homes are for disabled veterans of the armed services only, and not for persons who were employed in civilian capacities in war times, the President said in vetoing the bill to grant such privileges to certain persons who served in civilian capacities in the Quartermaster Corps of the army during the war with Spain, the Philippine insurrection, and the China relief expedition.

The precedent created by the bill, the President declared, would commit the Government to a policy which, in justice, could not be confined to the civilians covered by this particular Act, but would justify civilians who were employed in other branches of war work in applying for and obtaining the same privileges.

The President's other veto was of a bill which proposed to give to one Joseph Marko, an alien, "all the rights, privileges and benefits of the World War Adjusted Compensation Act," despite the fact that he was dischargd from the army because he was an alien. There were thousands of other aliens in exactly the same class as Marko, the President declared, and, that being so, he was unable to see any "special or peculiar merit" in the Marko case. Marko was discharged from the service at his own request.

On March 7 the President vetoed Senator Wagner's bill providing for the establishment of a National employment system. The President in indicating his attitude toward the proposed legislation said: "I find upon study that if I would prevent a serious blow to labor during this crisis, I should not approve the bill." The President declared that the bill "proposes to destroy the Federal Employment Service in the Department of Labor . . . and to substitute for it 48 practically independent agencies, each under State control, the Federal Government paying for them up to 50% and based, not upon economic need, but upon mathematical ratio to population." In citing his objection to the bill thePresident further said: "It cannot be made effective for many months or even years"; "it is not only changing horses while crossing a stream" said the President, "but the other horse would not arrive for many months." Along with his statement vetoing the bill the President submitted reports from Attorney General Mitchell and Secretary of Labor Doak detailing "the difficulties of the bill."

In a statement issued March 8, Senator Robert F. Wagner, author of the bill, undertook to reply to the President. We quote his reply in part as follows:

In the statement accompanying his veto of the employment service bill the President suggests that it involves changing horses while crossing the stream. That is not a correct discription. The true fact is this: Before we ever got into the water the administration was offered a sound horse upon which to ride through the storm. It refused it. It insisted on riding the decrepit and balky creature which is the existing Federal employment service condemned by all who can speak with authority.

The President's statement should be read in the light of its history. The bill was first introduced in 1928. Fully 10 months ago the bill had already passed the Senate, received favorable report in the House Judiciary Committee and was on the House calendar. A nod from the President would have caused the bill to pass at that time, so that it would now have been long in operation, successfully helping us to weather the present crisis.

No one will be deceived by the President's declaration that the bill would be a blow to labor. The public knows very well where the friends of labor stood on this question. The public knows, too, that Mr. Doak himself, when he was a representative of one of the railroad brotherhoods and before he was Secretary of Labor, advocated whole-heartedly the enactment of this legislation. The people of this country will, therefore, never accept the President's unsupported statement that the bill would inflict an injury upon the wage-earners.

Both the President and his Attorney-General seized upon a sentence of the new bill which reads: "The employment service now existing in the Department of Labor is hereby abolished." They would have the public believe that instead of creating an employment service the purpose of my bill was to destroy it. That is, of course, absurd. The existing service is abolished in the same sense that an old law is repealed when a new law supersedes it. But it is not at all true that "months must elapse before substantial progress could be made in setting up the new service." The new service can go into operation the identical second that the old service ceases. Had the Attorney-General read the bill carefully he would have noticed that arrangements are made for immediate operation, and that provision is made for a two-year period of adjustment from the present system to the new system.

President Hoover disposed finally of all legislation passed by Congress, when he announced on March 9 that he had "pocket vetoed" four measures submitted for his action. The "United States Daily" in reporting this went on to say:

Two of the last four measures vetoed concerned the postal service, and the other two were private relief measures, it was explained.

The White House made no announcement of President Hoover's reasons for giving "pocket" vetoes to the four measures. A "pocket" veto is where the President withholds his signature from a measure and gives no reasons therefor. On behalf of the President it was stated that he "pocket" vetoed the measures only after the most careful study and consideration.

One of the postal measures was House Joint Resolution 357 providing for the classification of certain official mail matter. The resolution would have permitted members of Congress to send to their own address official matter without limitation as to weight, exactly the same as is provided under present law for public documents. The other measure, S. 543, would have increased the pay of mail carriers in the village delivery service.

One of the relief measures which failed to receive presidential approval was the bill (H. R. 8677), which would have provided for the relief of certain disbursing officers of the Army and for the settlement of individual claims approved by the Department of War. The other (S. 3924), would have provided relief to the First State Bank & Trust Co. of Mission, Tex.

Including the four vetoes already mentioned, President Hoover has vetoed altogether 19 measures passed by Congress since his inauguration March 4 1929, according to information made available at the White House.

Twelve of these measures, aside from those referred to, were straight out vetoes, while three were so-called "pocket vetoes."

MEASURES FOR DROUTH RELIEF.

With the approval of President Hoover, announcement was made on March 9 by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, of the appointment of a committee of three to administer $10,000,000 of the $20,000,000 drouth relief fund appropriated by Congress on Feb. 14. The $10,000,00 appropriation will be applied toward financing increases of capital stock of agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies, etc. The committee of three consists of Lewis T. Tune, of St. Louis, Chairman; B. C. Powell, of Little Rock, Ark., and Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, former Quarter-Master General of the army. Bankers, merchants, publishers and professional men in the drouth regions must lend their time and thought, as well as their money, if the agricultural credit corporations, livestock loan companies and similar organizations, now offered Federal loans, are to function quickly and effectively, it was stated March 14 by B. C. Powell of Little Rock, Ark., one of the members of Secretary of Agriculture Hyde's Advisory Loan Committee. "No credit association," he said, "that fails to realize the importance of management will be able to extend the aid that Secretary Hyde and his State and National loan committees hope it can make available to farmers."

President Hoover announced on March 12 the appointment of John R. Alpine of New York, as a special assistant to the Secretary of Labor, to direct immediate expansion of the United States Employment Service and intensification of its efforts to relieve the situation growing out of the business depression.

THE STATE OF TRADE AND TRADE DEVELOPMENTS.

It has already been indicated that no essential change in the condition of trade occurred and that whatever increase in activity developed was mainly seasonal in character. Best accounts came from the textile trades and particularly from the cotton goods industry, with the outlook materially improved, but mainly due to the rigid curtailment of output to such an extent that current orders and current shipments, while far from equaling those of 1930, are yet running in excess of production. The statistical reports of production, sales and shipments of standard cotton cloths during the month of February, 1931, made public March 9 by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York showed that production during February amounted to 212,168,000 yards, or at the rate of 53,042,000 yards per week, and that sales during February were 326,691,000 yards, equivalent to 154% of production, being the largest ratio of sales to production in four years. Shipments were 248,354,000 yards, equivalent to 117% of production. At the same time stocks at the end of the month were down to 319,328,000 yards, representing a decrease during the month of 10.2%. The stocks were at the lowest figure recorded since the statistics became comparable on Jan. 1 1928. Furthermore unfilled orders stood at 395,802,000 yards Feb. 28, showing an increase of 24.7% during the month. Nevertheless the U. S. Census figures for the month of February, issued on March 14, showed only 433,510 bales of lint and 53,087 bales of linters consumed in the month the present year by the mills of the United States, against 494,396 bales of lint and 61,108 bales of linters in February 1930. The price of cotton moved lower again, middling upland spot cotton at New York being quoted at 10.70c. on March 11 and after recovering to 11 cents March 21, being back to 10.70c. March 31, which compared with 11.20c. at the close of February. The Bureau of the Census on March 20 issued its final ginning report on the 1930 crop, and made the total only 13,929,941 bales of 500 lbs. or some 313,000 bales less than the Agricultural Bureau's estimate made the previous December and comparing with 14,824,861 bales, the crop of 1929, and 14,477,874 bales, the crop of 1928. There were certain developments during the month that appeared to hold the promise of an increase in the world's cotton consumption. One of these was the sharp recovery in the price of silver and the other the compromise agreement reached between Viceroy Lord Irwin and Mahatma Gandhi, the Indian leader, under which the civil disobedience campaign of the Indian Nationalists is to be discontinued. It was hoped that this would allow Manchester cotton spinners to find an improved market again for their cotton goods. Print cloths at Fall River for 28 in. 64x60 remained unchanged through the month at 4⅛c.

The woolen goods industry showed only slight signs of improvement, due chiefly to the sharp advances in the foreign wool markets. Prices at the London auctions were 10 to 30% higher than those prevailing at the January sales. Domestic wools, however, did not seem to be in the same favored condition because of a large carry-over of the domestic clip including a considerable quantity of low-grade wools. In addition openings of new woolen and worsted lines for the fall season showed that values were at extremely low levels indicating deflation of a very pronounced kind. The New York Journal of Commerce said that the probable extent of the decline in men's worsted suitings for the fall 1937 season had been indicated on March 12 when Metcalf Brothers & Co., leading producers of staple men's wear fabrics, announced reductions of 5 to 10% on their well known standard serges. The drop averaged about 15c. per yard on worsted serges and 5c. per yard on wool-filled unfinished worsteds. Raw silk prices suffered further sharp depression. Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were $2.55@$2.65 March 31, against $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 on Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31; $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30, but $4.70@$4.75 Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.50@$2.60 March 31, against $2.65@$2.70 on Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 on Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31; $2.25@$2.30 on Oct. 31, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. Crude rubber prices also continued their downward descent. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were 6⅞c. bid and 7c. asked March 31 against 7⅝@7¾c. Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. Dec. 31 1930 and 15¾@15⅞ on Feb. 28 1930.

UPWARD REBOUND IN HIDE PRICES.

Hide prices showed a sharp upward rebound during the month of March. The New England letter of the First National Bank of Boston, under date of March 25, after noting that the output of shoes in New England during February showed a gain of nearly 14% over the preceding month, but for the first two months of the year was about 12% below the corresponding period of 1930, set out the underlying causes of the rise in hides as follows:

Hide prices have recently scored a sharp advance. From 6½ cents a pound in February, the lowest in over thirty years, quotations on light native cows have advanced to 10 cents a pound, or a gain of over 50%. In view of the fact that hides now being offered are of a seasonally inferior quality, the advance which has taken place is all the more striking. A number of factors have combined to bring about the recent marked upturn. In the first place, it represents a rebound from the abnormally low prices of a month ago, which were seemingly unwarranted by the statistical position of the raw material. Furthermore, shoe manufacturers who conduct their own tanning operations became concerned over an expansion in the export movement of domestic hides and inasmuch as requirements must be anticipated months in advance, they bought to secure their needs. Then, too, in some quarters it is felt that a part of this advance can be attributed to speculative buying in anticipation of a general business improvement.

While the above factors contributed to the advance, it is probable that the underlying cause was a sudden realization of our changed position since the adoption of the tariff. In view of our domestic tariff on hide imports, which we must bring in on a large scale to supplement our domestic production, prices in the domestic market would normally be higher than abroad, but the reverse has been the case for several months. As a result, our net imports of hides had dwindled to a negligible amount by January and export probably exceeded imports during February. Such a condition could not long continue. Although consumption of cattle hides has declined in recent years, and substantially so in 1930 because of the depression, domestic hide production even in the latter year was only 83% of consumption. Furthermore, while stocks of hides and cattle hide leather have shown some gain during the last year, they are not excessive, being less than 5% above a year ago. Finally, hides are a by-product of the meat packing industry and in consequence production is quite independent of the demand-supply situation in the commodity itself. As a result, the effects upon hide prices of variations in demand are intensified since the supply is not sensitive to changing hide prices. The movement into sight of cattle hides has declined considerably, with January showing a decrease of 16% as compared with December and 34% as compared with January, 1930. Hence a good increase in the consumption of hides would likely a have marked effect upon prices.

In the steel trade some lull developed towards the close of March after practically uninterrupted increases in production since the beginning of the year. The Iron age in its issue of March 19 reported the steel ingot output for the country at large at 57% of capacity, against 52@53% at the end of February, but in the following week there was no further extension of output, while its issue for April 2, which brought the record down to the end of March, showed a recession to 55%. Considerable encouragement was derived from the news that the Carnegie Steel Corporation, one of the subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation, had announced that its price on steel bars, plates and shapes at Pittsburgh would be marked up April 1 from 1.65 a pound to 1.70c. meaning an advance of $1 per ton. Nevertheless the price situation was not altogether satisfactory. For instance automobile body sheets declined $2 a ton, to 3.20 a lb. at Pittsburgh, and this was followed by a $2 a ton recession on black sheets and steel furniture stock, bringing the former down to 2.25c. and the latter to 3.50c. In commenting on this the Iron Age in its issue of March 26 said that these breaks in the market reflected an anxiety for business that more than offset cost considerations. In its issue of the same date "Steel" the former Iron Trade Review, said that steel presented a top-heavy market. The "Iron Age" in its issue of that date also remarked that mixed tendencies in prices, production and bookings were characterizing the iron and steel market as the end of March drew near. Recently announced advances on heavy rolled steel products contrasted sharply with renewed weakness in flat rolled products. Higher quotations on pig iron in the Valleys and in Alabama for Northern shipment were out of harmony with the persistent sensitivity of prices in other centers. Even scrap, traditionally the bellwether of all iron and steel products, had latterly lost its position of leadership in price movements. In the face of a continued dearth of activity in most grades of old material, such price changes as there were lacked consistency, evidences of strength at Pittsburgh contrasting with weakness at St. Louis and Detroit, and a mixed trend at Chicago. In its issue for April 2 the "Age" remarked:

"Close-range specifying by the motor car industry and irregularities in demands from other sources have resulted in a slight reduction in average raw steel output, ingot production now being estimated at 55% as compared with 57% in the two previous weeks. Chicago, Buffalo, the Wheeling district, Youngstown and Pittsburgh all reported declines, most of them small.

"The price situation shows signs of clarifying. Sheets have achieved more stability, following the placing of second quarter contracts at rather sharp concessions on one or two finishes. Weakness persists in black sheets, which are rather generally available at 2.25c., Pittsburgh, with as low as 2.20c. reported in some instances. The recently announced advances on strip steel have been withdrawn. The outcome of the advance on plates, shapes and bars is in doubt. In some cases consumers are specifying fully against contracts for the first quarter entered at 1.60c., Pittsburgh, but there has been no rush to place second quarter contracts at 1.65c. and the advance to 1.70c. scheduled to become effective on April 1 has not been taken seriously."

The "Age" made the composite price of finished steel Mar. 31 2.128c. a pound against 2.142c. a month earlier, and the composite price of pig iron $15.71 per gross ton Mar. 31, the same as the month earlier, and comparing with $15.90 on Jan. 6.

In the non-ferrous metals renewed weakness developed in the price of copper. Early in the month the price of the metal was raised to 10½c. delivered in Connecticut, and the export price of copper was advanced ¼ of a cent a pound to 10.80c., a new high mark for 1931, and 1c. a pound above the lowest export price for the year. At the end of the month, however, the domestic price was down to 9¾c. and the export price back to 10.30c. Here in New York the price of electrolytic copper was marked down from 10¼c. to 10c. Mar. 9, to 9¾c. Mar. 11, raised again to 10c. Mar. 12, and then reduced to 9¾c. Mar. 13, and to 9.50c. Mar. 30. Lake copper in New York was marked down Mar. 11 from 10⅝c. to 10⅛c., raised to 10⅜c. Mar. 12, reduced again to 10⅛c. Mar. 13, raised once more to 10⅜c. Mar. 18, and then reduced to 10⅛c. Mar. 24. The price of lead at New York was reduced Mar. 11 from 4.60c. to 4.50c. Tin moved within a narrow range and was quoted at 26.75c. Mar. 31 against 27.00c. Mar. 2. It was officially announced in London on Feb. 28 that a meeting to consider an international plan to regulate the production and export of tin had been held at the Colonial office, and that complete agreement had been arrived at regarding the system to be adopted. The principal points of the scheme were outlined as follows:

The scheme will be administered by the International Committee representing the Governments of Bolivia, Malaya, Netherlands, East Indies, and Nigeria.

The plan becomes effective Mar. 1 1931.

The object of the plan is to secure fair and reasonable equilibrium between production and consumption with the view of preventing repeated and severe oscillations of prices.

The basic world tonnage under the plan was agreed at 145,000 tons (of 2,240 pounds) a year.

The initial quotas were agreed as follows: Malaya, 53,853 tons; Bolivia, 34,260; Netherlands, East Indies, 29,910; Nigeria, 7,750. Invariable percentages based on these initial quotas were agreed for each country as ratios applicable to all alterations of basic tonnage.

It was also agreed that (apart from special agreement arrived at in view of urgent circumstances) these initial quotas should remain fixed for a period of not less than six months.

Each government agrees to allot its national quota among the individual producers and to control production and export effectively in accordance with the plan.

The quotas may be altered from time to time as circumstances may require by unanimous consent of the participating governments. The quotas will in no circumstances be altered at shorter intervals than three months.

The plan will remain in force for two years, but if any of the participating governments demand alteration of tonnage quotas and if within a period of six months a unanimous agreement has not been reached with regard to such a proposal the government which made the demand will be at liberty to withdraw from the plan. It was recognized that in the event of such withdrawal the other participating governments could immedately abandon the plan.

The representatives of the Governments of Bolivia, Malaya, Netherlands, East Indies, and Nigeria are submitting the details of the plan, as accepted at the meeting, for approval of their Governments. Meanwhile all arrangements are being made to make the plan effective Mar. 1.

The important points of the plan are: (1) That the initial quotas of four principal producing countries have been fixed at a total of 125,700 tons. This represents a curtailment of approximately 44,200 tons on 1929 production of these countries which are responsible for about 90% of the total world output. Working under normal conditions production of these four countries in 1930 would have amounted approximately to 172,000 tons, so that initial quotas represent curtailment at the rate of 56,200 tons per year on the normal capacity production of the four countries concerned. Another important point is that the agreement remains in force for two years and takes effect as from Mar. 1 1931.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS.

The stability of the crude oil market suffered a serious blow at the beginning of March in widespread price slashes in both mid-Continent and Texas fields. This was followed by slashes approximating 50c. a barrel in all the principal fields in California, while later in the month the Magnolia

Petroleum Co., subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, posted prices for crude oil from the new fields in east Texas at the same level as fixed in the mid-Continent areas, effective Mar. 26. The price changes of the month, both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products, are indicated in the following:

CRUDE OIL.

Mar. 5.—Standard Oil of Indiana, through its purchasing subsidiary, posted new prices for crude effective immediately, the reductions ranging from 22c. a barrel on the lower degrees of gravity to 50c. a barrel on the top gravities. The majority of the other large companies immediately posted corresponding reductions.

Mar. 7.—Union Oil of California posted reductions of approximately 50c. a barrel for crude oil purchased in the main producing centers in California. All other operators met the cut immediately.

Mar. 10.—A price of 90c. a barrel for Corning crude was posted in the Pennsylvania fields by all major companies, a cut of 25c. a barrel.

Mar. 10.—Standard Oil of Louisiana posted crude oil price reductions ranging from 22c. to 40c. a barrel in all Louisiana and Arkansas fields, meeting reductions posted in the mid-Continent area by Standard Oil of Indiana.

Mar. 10.—Humble posted reductions of from 22c. to 40c. a barrel for crude oil from all its Texas fields. This move brought prices into line with mid-Continent range.

Mar. 11.—South Penn Oil Co. posted a price of 80c. a barrel for Corning crude, a reduction of 10c. from the previous posting.

Mar. 16.—Union Oil of California reduced crude oil prices in all fields in the State from 15c. to 30c. a barrel. These reductions followed the general slash of 50c. a barrel by the same company on Mar. 7.

Mar. 18.—General Petroleum Co., Pacific Coast subsidiary of Standard Oil of New York, met the reductions posted by Union Oil Co. in all California fields.

Mar. 20.—Standard Oil of California posted new prices for all crude purchased from California fields, reductions averaging 10c. a barrel. This cut was to meet the reductions posted by Union Oil.

Mar. 27.—Magnolia Petroleum Co. this day posted prices for crude oil from Rusk and Gregg Counties, Texas, starting at 40c. a barrel for 26 degrees, with a 1c. spread up to and including 28 degrees, which was placed at 43c. From that point the differential was 2c., making 40 degrees gravity and above 67c. a barrel. Magnolia was the first major company to post prices in the new fields.

Mar. 30.—Effective this day, the Union Oil Co. of California posted reductions ranging from 25c. to 35c. a barrel in the principal fields in California. Competing producers met the cut.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

Mar. 2.—Atlantic Refining announced a ½c. a gallon cut in the tank car price of gasoline in New York Harbor. New price, 7c. a gallon.

Mar. 3.—Standard Oil of New Jersey announced a ½c. a gallon cut in the tank car price of gasoline in New York Harbor. This reduction placed the price at 7c. a gallon and was to meet reductions by other refiners.

Mar. 4.—Crew Levick and Warner-Quinlan announced reductions of ½c. and ¾c. a gallon, respectively, in the New York Harbor tank car price. Cut was to meet reductions posted by other refiners.

Mar. 5.—Standard Oil of New York announced a cut of ½c. a gallon in the New York Harbor tank car gasoline price, placing the price at 7c. a gallon. Move was to meet cuts posted by other refiners.

Mar. 10.—Warner-Quinlan advanced the tank car price of bulk gasoline ¼c. a gallon, posting at 7c. a gallon. This move placed the company in line with other refiners.

Mar. 18.—Standard Oil of California reduced the service station price of gasoline 1c. a gallon in Southern California and the Bay region, establishing service station price at 10½c. a gallon. This was the company's latest move in the current gasoline war raging on the Coast, and was promptly met by all competitors.

Mar. 24.—Standard Oil of New York posted a reduction of ½c. a gallon in the tank car price of gasoline, making the new price 6½c. a gallon, tank cars, New York.

Mar. 25.—Sinclair, Gulf, and Atlantic Refining posted a ½c. a gallon reduction in the New York Harbor tank car price of gasoline, conforming with the cut posted the day before by Standard Oil of New York.

Mar. 26.—Shell Eastern posted a 1c. a gallon reduction in the Atlantic Seaboard tank car gasoline price, making new price in New York Harbor 7c. a gallon, ½c. above the price posted by the majority of other refiners. Cities Service posted a cut of ½c. a gallon in its New England terminals, meeting cut posted by competitors.

Mar. 30.—Effective Mar. 28, the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey announced a cut of ½c. a gallon in the price of bulk gasoline, making the new price 6½c. a gallon, New York Harbor. This met the cuts made by other refiners during the previous week. Crew-Levick also posted new prices in line with the recent reductions.

THE MARCH FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The March financing of the United States Government was of exceptional magnitude and involved some unusual problems, but was very skilfully managed, and proved a great success. The income taxes, payable the middle of the month, were certain to yield a greatly reduced amount of revenue to the Government because of the intense prostration of the country's industries and general business depression during the calendar year 1930, on which the levy of the income taxes is made. The precise extent of the falling off did not appear until the end of March, when the statistics became available, and then it was found the shrinkage had exceeded the worst fears, the loss for the month as compared with March 1930 reaching $224,673,488, but from the very first it was known that the Treasury would have to allow for a very heavy loss in that way. In the second place, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had to allow for a large draft upon Government cash to meet the payments called for under the soldier bonus legislation which Congress had enacted over the veto of President Hoover and which authorized loans to the war veterans up to 50% of the face value of the adjusted service certificates held by these veterans. As stated in our review for the month of February, careful calculations made by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs showed that about $1,000,000,000 would be required in the near future to satisfy the demand for loans by the veterans for the immediate present. However, Mr. Mellon thought it sufficient to provide, roughly, $300,000,000 for the purpose, or, in exact figures, $291,000,000. In addition to all this, there was another imperious demand in the fact that six months previously, before the outlook for the Treasury had become disturbed by the anxieties growing out of the soldier bonus legislation, and before there was any reason to apprehend any such great contraction in Government revenues as now actually developed, Mr. Mellon had called for payment on Mar. 15 1931, in advance of their maturity, $1,100,000,000 of Treasury notes bearing 3½% interest, with the idea of refunding them at a lower rate of interest and thereby reducing the yearly cost of servicing the debt.

Thus the Secretary of the Treasury had to make provision definitely for $1,400,000,000 of extra demands, namely, $1,100,000,000 to take up the called Treasury notes, and $300,000,000 to meet the immediate needs for soldier bonus loans. The situation might easily have become embarrassing, even at a time of extreme ease in the money market, but the Secretary of the Treasury proved equal to the occasion and managed so to divide up the total amount required among three different classes of securities as to make an unusually wide appeal to the investment world—in fact, he made his appeal all-embracing. Investors seeking short-term obligations of near maturities, those seeking short-term obligations of longer maturities, and also those seeking long-term obligations, one and all were offered something suitable to their needs. In other words, Mr. Mellon offered two series of certificates of indebtedness, one running for six months for amount of $300,000,000, and another running a full year for amount of $600,000,000, besides which he also invited subscriptions for $500,000,000 Treasury bonds bearing 3⅜% interest. In the six months issue of certificates he fixed the rate of interest at only 1½% per annum, the lowest figure ever named in any offering of certificates, and in the certificates running a full year he put the rate of interest at 2% per annum. The $500,000,000 Treasury bond issue, bearing 3⅜% interest, was given a maturity date of Mar. 15 1943, but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after Mar. 15 1941. This was a combination of three distinct kinds of obligations which could hardly have been improved upon, and it deserved the instant success with which it met. Subscriptions were invited on Monday, Mar. 2, and such was the volume of orders received that the next day notice came that subscription books would be closed at the close of business on that day, Tuesday, Mar. 3. Tenders were received for each of the three classes of obligations far in excess of the respective amounts offered. For the $500,000,000 3⅜% Treasury bonds the subscriptions aggregated $2,111,871,300, of which $1,369,148,200 were cash subscriptions, none of which were accepted, and $742,723,100 were exchange subscriptions, the Treasury having in its offering agreed to give preferred allotment to subscriptions in payment for which 3½% Treasury notes called for payment were tendered. The same privilege of preferred allotment was also extended to the 12 months' series of certificates, but not to the six months' series of certificates. The allotments on the 3⅜% Treasury bonds (all being exchange subscriptions, as already stated) aggregated $594,193,650, which, it will be observed, was $94,193,650 in excess of the original offering of $500,000,000. For the $600,000,000 2% one-year certificates of indebtedness the subscriptions aggregated $1,223,084,500, of which $72,482,500 were exchange subscriptions and were allotted in full, and the rest were cash subscriptions, of which $551,409,000 were allotted, making the total of the allotment on this series of certificates $623,891,500. For the $300,000,000 1½% six months' certificates the subscriptions were $400,648,500, all of which were cash subscriptions, and the amount allotted $300,176,000. Altogether, the subscriptions for the three classes of obligations offered reached no less than $3,735,604,300, showing that the combined offering of $1,400,000,000 was subscribed for over 2½ times, and the allotments aggregated $1,518,261,500. It should be stated that the two series of certificates were exempt from the surtaxes, but the Treasury bonds were not so exempt, the Treasury Department having failed in its endeavor to get Congress to authorize surtax exemption, as narrated further below. With reference to the extremely low rate of 1½% carried by the six months' issue of certificates, the lowest figure, as already stated, ever named in any offering of certificates, the treasury had paved the way for lowering of the rate (the rate on the six months' certificates offered the previous December was 1¾%, and the rate on the certificates then offered running for a year was 1⅞%) by reducing, on Feb. 16, the rate of interest that the depositary banks would have to pay on Government deposits from 1½% per annum to only 1% per annum. This was after a reduction the previous December in this rate from 2% to 1½%, as explained at length in our remarks on the subject for the month of February.

The midmonth financing of the Treasury had to be supplemented later in the month by additional financing. This later financing took the form of the offering of Treasury bills, bearing no interest, but sold on a discount basis to the highest bidder. On Mar. 25 notice was given by the Secretary of the Treasury of the offering of $100,000,000, "or thereabouts", of new 90-day Treasury bills in two series of $50,000,000 each. While no specific statement to that effect was contained as to the purpose of this new financing in Mr. Mellon's announcement regarding the new issue it was understood that it was designed to meet the demands incident to the soldier bonus loans to the war veterans. In inviting tenders Mr. Mellon stated that they would be 90-day bills, and that tenders would be received up to 2 o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard time on Mar. 30 1931. The bills were in two series, as already stated, $50,000,000, "or thereabouts", to be dated April 2 1931, and maturing on July 1 1931, and $50,000,000, "or thereabouts", to be dated April 3 1931, and maturing on July 2 1931. Bidders were not required or permitted to bid for a particular series, but the Treasury, it was stated, would apportion each accepted bid equally between the two series insofar as the minimum denomination of $1,000 would permit. Payment was required on April 2 1931 for the bills allotted bearing that date of issue, and on April 3 1931 for bills allotted bearing the latter date. The total applied for was $343,857,000, and out of this amount $100,855,000 were allotted at an average price of 99.634, this being at an annual rate on a bank discount basis of about 1.46% per annum. The highest bid made was 99.695, equivalent to an interest rate of 1.22% on an annual basis. The lowest bid accepted was 99.621, equivalent to an interest rate of about 1.52% on an annual basis. The average rate of 1.46% realized on this sale of bills compares with an average of 1.21% per annum at the sale of $154,218,000 of 91-day bills dated Feb.. 16 1931 and maturing on May 18 1931, and with the exceptionally low average rate to the Government of only 0.95% per annum at the sale of $60,000,000 90-day bills on Jan. 30.

While on the subject of Government financing it deserves to be noted that Congress, before its adjournment on Mar. 4, granted authority to the Treasury Department for the issuance of additional amounts of Government long-term bonds in order to carry out the refunding operations contemplated during the next few years, but without granting the full tax exemption to the new issues of bonds requested by the Treasury Department. On Mar. 3 President Hoover signed the bill amending the Second Liberty Bond Act, so as to increase the borrowing limit of the Treasury from $20,000,000,000 to $28,000,000,000. As enacted into law, the bill is shorn of the section which would have made the additional bonds exempt from surtaxes. This provision, recommended by Secretary Mellon in his annual report, was carried in the bill passed by the House on Feb. 20. The tax-exempt provision of the House bill was eliminated by the Senate Finance Committee, so that the bill as reported to the Senate from the Committee read:

Be it enacted, &c., That Section 1 of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended (Public, Numbered 43, 120, and 192, Sixty-fifth Congress, Sept. 24 1917, April 4 1918, and July 9 1918, respectively), is hereby amended by striking out the figures "$20,000,000,000" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$28,000,000,000."

In this form the bill was passed by the Senate on Mar. 2, and the House on the same date concurred in the action of the Senate in thus amending the bill. The provision which was cut from the bill as it came from the House on Feb. 20 follows:

Sec. 2. That Section 1 of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended (Public Numbered 43, Sixty-fifth Congress, Sept. 24 1917), is hereby amended by adding thereto the following sentence: "Bonds authorized by Section 1 and certificates authorized by Section 6, of this Act, as amended, hereafter issued shall be exempt from graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess-profits and war-profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations, if and when the Secretary of the Treasury shall so prescribe in connection with the issue thereof."

Regarding the action of the Senate Committee we quote the following from Washington, Mar. 1, to the New York "Times":

The effort to get through Congress a bill which would permit the Treasury to issue long-term bond offerings that would be exempt from surtaxes as well as the normal tax has been abandoned.

Senator Smoot, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said to-night that the decision was made because of the opposition of Senators Couzens and La Follette in the Committee, which made it evident that there was no chance to obtain favorable action at this session.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN MARCH.

Foreign financing in the domestic market in March was of small volume and consisted of the following:

FOREIGN FINANCING.

$11,070,000 Montreal, Que., 4½% s. f. g. bonds, of which $8,570,000 mature in 1971 and $2,500,000 in 1951, awarded to a group headed by the Chase Securities Corp., of New York, at 99.207, a basis of about 4.55%. Re-offered at a price of par.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING MARCH 1931.

The trend of the stock market during March was distinctly lower. There were occasional rallies, but there was never sustained strength. Nevertheless, a number of stocks followed a course apart from that of the general market, and moved upward. This will account for the fact that 428 stocks, at one time or another during the month, established new high records for the year on the New York Stock Exchange and 500 stocks new high records on the New York Curb Exchange. The market at all times was ragged and irregular, when it was not distinctly weak, and operators for a rise—for a temporary rise, any immediate permanent rise being never in mind—found little to encourage their efforts. The downward course of prices did not appear to provoke any extensive new liquidation, but while this was a favorable feature, as far as it went, it was on the other hand palpably evident that buying orders on any large scale were entirely absent, admitting of no other conclusion that little or no confidence was being entertained of any change for the better either for the immediate present or the remoter future. The market was weakest in the first week of the month and again in the closing days. The railroad stocks may be said to have been continuously weak and under constant pressure from beginning to end of the month and it was their heaviness that eventually carried the whole market down. The industrial and general list, however, was at times independently weak. The 25 railroad stocks forming the basis of the averages kept by the New York "Times" showed a decline from a high of 91.74 Mar. 2 to 80.82 Mar. 30, with the close Mar. 31 at 80.99. The 25 industrial stocks, on the other hand, were at their highest on Mar. 20 at 247.80 and at their lowest on Mar. 30 at 226.28, with the close Mar. 31 at 228.06 as against the close on Feb. 28 of 243.46. This last shows that the industrial list had by the 20th of the month regained all of the heavy losses sustained in the early part of the month, which the railroads never did, and then in the renewed decline during the last 10 days of the month dropped much lower than before. But it also shows that in the end the industrial list was swept downward with the some irresistible force as the rest of the market. This statement finds confirmation also in the course of the general averages for the whole 50 stocks combined, which was at its highest for the month at 169 on Mar. 2, and at its lowest on Mar. 30 at 153.55, with the close Mar. 31 at 154.52.

The reasons for the general downturn can be compressed in the single statement that there was complete absence of any favorable or stimulating influences bearing upon the probability of earnings and profits, which are always the ultimate determining factor in establishing the intrinsic merit of security values, while, on the other hand, unfavorable developments bearing upon the same consideration kept accumulating with ever-growing force. Soldier bonus legislation, concurrently with declining Government revenues, due to business depression long continued and the diminished yield of the income taxes based upon earnings and profits so heavily reduced by reason of this depression, introduced an entirely new disturbing factor in the situation, and though the immediate Government financing required for the purpose through skillful handling by the Treasury Department was attended with a degree of success that was in the highest degree assuring, it left open the possibility of still heavier taxes and afforded no relief from the trade paralysis under which the country was so painfully laboring. Profound disappointment was felt over the fact that the adjournment of Congress met with no response in the shape of quickened trade activity, as had been so fondly hoped would be the case—at least so far as current indications afforded a basis for judgment in that respect—but the most discouraging and disquieting influence was the way that evidence was piling up going to show what frightful losses business depression had already imposed and was still imposing upon the great transportation agencies and industrial undertakings of the country. At the beginning of March the poor statements of earnings of the railroads then still coming in for the month of January—poor almost beyond belief—involved the whole country in gloom, and at the end of March the gloom was further intensified by the receipt of the returns now coming to hand for the month of February, and which proved of the same dismal character.

Dividend reductions now became the order of the day, mainly among the railroads, but including some of the strongest railroad properties in the country, and including also many stocks of industrial concerns which likewise were forced to cut dividends because of reduced profits or suspend them altogether for the same reason. In the case of these industrial properties the income statements which came in, one after another, for the December quarter and the calendar year 1930, furnished startling revelations as to the extent to which the business activities of the country had suffered as a result of trade depression. The dividend reductions and suspensions, however, were most noteworthy in the case of the railroad companies. Early in the month the Lehigh Valley RR., in declaring its quarterly dividend, reduced from an annual basis of $3.50 a share to $2.50 a share (par value $50), and the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific reduced its quarterly dividend from an annual basis of 7% to 5%. The St. Louis-San Francisco suspended dividends altogether on its common shares. And as the month progressed other dividend reductions came along of the same order. On Mar. 11 the stock market received a severe blow in the action of the New York Central RR. in reducing its dividend from a basis of 8% per annum to 6%, causing a renewed break in the railroad list. Other railroads soon joined the procession. More particularly, the Baltimore & Ohio reduced its dividend distribution from a basis of 7% per annum to 5%, and the Delaware Lackawanna & Western cut its dividend from $6 per share per year to $4 (par value of shares $50). The Missouri-Kansas-Texas discontinued the quarterly dividends on its common shares begun the previous year. The Bank of America National Association and Bancamerica-Blair Corp. declared quarterly dividends aggregating 75c. a share, placing the stock on a $3 annual dividend basis against the previous basis of $4.50.

In the industrial world the developments were of the same unfortunate character. To mention here all the adverse dividend changes would take altogether too much space, and it must suffice to mention only a few instances to illustrate the general tendency. On the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing common stock the dividend was reduced from 10% to 8%. The Crucible Steel Co. announced suspension altogether of the quarterly dividends on its common stock. The American International Corp. gave notice of the omission of the semi-annual dividend previously paid of $1 in cash and 2% in stock. The White Motor Co. reduced the quarterly dividend on its common shares from 50c. a share to 25c. a share. The National Cash Register Co. omitted the quarterly dividend of 75c. a share on its $3 cumulative class A common stock. In the copper field the Anaconda Copper Co., to the apparent surprise of the stock market, further cut its quarterly distribution to 37½c. per share, or to an annual basis of $1.50 per share against $2.50 the last previous annual basis and much higher figures at preceding periods. A complete list of all the dividend changes for the month is furnished in the remarks immediately above. It should be added that the copper stocks suffered in addition from the renewed break in the price of the metal which dropped to 9¾c. for copper delivered in Connecticut.

All the oil stocks were adversely affected by the further drastic reductions in the price of petroleum and various of its products, like gasoline. The prolific character of the yield in the new fields in Eastern Texas and the difficulties which this imposed in providing for a pro rata curtailment of oil output in the various producing fields throughout the country was a chief disturbing influence. In the case of the steel stocks the monthly statement of unfilled orders on t books of the subsidiary corporations of the United Stat Steel Corporation, made public on Mar. 10 for the month February and showing a falling off in such orders for t second successive month, proved a disappointing facto On Monday, Mar. 23, the market received a severe blow the announcement of the Federal Farm Board that furth purchases of wheat (except in the case of the 1930 crop d liveries) would terminate with the close of the season at t end of May. This proved depressing because it caused break in the future options for the 1931 or new crop wheat, though satisfaction was felt over the fact that t effect would be to prevent further accumulations of unsol wheat in the hands of the Farm Board.

There were days when the market enjoyed a sharp rall but they were not numerous and, as already stated, wer never lasting. The most pronounced of these rallies occu red during the second and third weeks of the month, bot the opening days of the month and the closing days of th month having, as already noted, been periods of ver severe depression. On Saturday, Mar. 7, the market enjoye brisk recovery after the severe decline of the preceding days this being a reflection apparently of the great success at tending the flotation of the U. S. Government's offering o new securities for $1,400,000,000 and also the ready sale an resale of $100,000,000 of New York City long term obliga tions. On Monday, Mar. 9, there was further sharp recovery for the same reason. On Tuesday, Mar. 10, quite a stimulus was given the railroad list by the successful flotation o three large new offerings of securities, consisting of $75, 000,000 New York Central bonds and a $50,000,000 Penn sylvania Railroad issue along with $60,000,000 of Port o New York Authority bonds. The appearance on that day however, of the monthly statement of unfilled orders on the books of the subsidiary corporations of the United States Steel Corporation, to which reference has already been made, showing a falling off in such orders during February following a similar shrinkage the previous month, gave the market a setback again. The next day (Wednesday, Mar. 11), a severe blow was dealt the market by the reduction of the dividend on New York Central stock. The market remained more or less unsettled thereafter during that and the ensuing week and suffered severe depression during the last ten days of the month. Aggregate sales on the Stock Exchange during the month reached 65,658,087 shares as against 96,552,040 shares in March, 1930, and 105,661,570 shares in March, 1929. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales were only 14,089,000 shares as against 27,294,900 shares in March 1930 and 32,058,800 shares in March 1929.

As far as the separate stocks are concerned, the course of prices was almost uniformly downward, with the net losses for the month large in the great majority of cases. The railroads as a group suffered worse thany any others for the reasons already stated. New York Central fell from 125 Mar. 2 to 107¾ Mar. 30 and closed Mar. 31 at 108¾; Atchison fell from 197 Mar. 2 to 183 Mar. 30 and closed Mar. 31 at 185; Atlantic Coast Line dropped from 120 Mar. 2 to 98 Mar. 31, while Baltimore & Ohio declined from 82 Mar. 2 to 71½ Mar. 18 and closed Mar. 31 at 74; Delaware & Hudson dropped from 152 Mar. 2 to 138½ Mar. 27, and closed Mar. 31 at 137 bid 138½ asked; Illinois Central declined from 84 Mar. 2 to 69 Mar. 31, and Louisville & Nashville from 106½ Mar. 2 to 84 Mar. 30, with the close Mar. 31 at 90; Missouri Pacific sold down from 39⅛ Mar. 2 to 29⅝ Mar. 30 and closed Mar. 31 at 30; St. Louis-San Francisco fell from 47½ Mar. 2 to 35 Mar. 18, and closed Mar. 31 at 37¾, while Union Pacific tumbled from 200⅜ Mar. 2 to 183 Mar. 18, and closed Mar. 31 at 184.

In the industrial and miscellaneous list U. S. Steel after selling at 150⅛ Mar. 20, against the opening price Mar. 2 of 149, touched 139⅛ Mar. 31; Bethlehem Steel declined from 67⅞ Mar. 2 to 56⅜ Mar. 28, and closed Mar. 31 at 57⅛; American Tel. & Tel., after advancing to 199¾ Mar. 10 against 197 Mar. 2, dropped to 187½ Mar. 31; General Electric was at 53⅞ Mar. 21 against 52⅞ Mar. 2, but sold down to 48 Mar. 31; Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 172 Mar. 2 to 141½ Mar. 31, and J. I. Case fell from 123¼ Mar. 2 to 105¼ Mar. 31, while International Harvester declined from 60½ Mar. 2 to 50 Mar. 31; E. I. du Pont de Nemours after selling at 107 Mar. 19 against 98⅞ Mar. 2 dropped to 93½ Mar. 30 with the close Mar. 31 at 95 and Westinghouse Elec. & Manufacturing fell from 104⅞ Mar. 2 to 85⅞ Mar. 31. The copper stocks as noted above were an especial element of weakness and Anaconda copper declined from 42⅜ Mar. 2 to 32 Mar. 30 with the close Mar. 31 at 33¼; Byers & Co. broke from 66⅞ Mar. 4 to 47⅝ Mar. 30 and closed Mar. 31 at 49, and American Smelting & Refining declined from 56½ Mar. 2 to 44 Mar. 28, with the close Mar. 31 at 46½. In the general tumble the public utilities did not escape. North American sold down from 88⅝ Mar. 2 to 78⅝ Mar. 30, with the close Mar. 31 at 79½; Public Service of N. J. after advancing from 83¼ Mar. 2 to 96½ Mar. 19, closed Mar. 31 at 87⅛; American & Foreign Power after moving up from 44¼ Mar. 2 to 49¼ Mar. 10, dropped to 39⅝ Mar. 21; Standard Gas & Elec. after selling Mar. 10 at 88⅜ against 84⅜ Mar. 2, touched 76 Mar. 30 with the close Mar. 31 at 76¾.

In the bond market some heavy declines occurred in the railroad list as a result of the dividend reductions and poor returns of earnings. Thus St. Louis & San Francisco General 4s series A dropped from 86½ Mar. 2 to 80 Mar. 28, with the close Mar. 31 at 80¾; Central of Georgia 5s series C sold down from 93 Mar. 3 to 88½ Mar. 30 with the close Mar. 31 at 89; Chicago & North Western convertible 4¾s series A declined from 91 Mar. 2 to 80½ Mar. 30 with the close Mar. 31 at 80⅞; Erie ref. & imp. 5s dropped from 81 Mar. 2 to 72 Mar. 31; the Missouri Pacific general 4s from 71 Mar. 2 to 61⅛ Mar. 31; Chic., Mil., St. Paul & Pac. 5s series A from 72 Mar. 2 to 63⅛ Mar. 31, and Southern Railway general 4s series A from 88¼ Mar. 6 to 81 Mar. 31. Foreign government bonds were higher except in the case of the Australian issues which suffered a severe break owing to the unfortunate political developments in that country and the announcement that the Premier of New South Wales had given notice of intention to default on Apr. 1 on interest payments on the loans floated in London though he agreed to meet the interest due at the same date on the loans placed in this country. Sharp recovery, however, occurred when the news came that the Australian Government would not permit default, but would make payment itself; thereupon some of these Australian issues sold higher than before. In the following we show the fluctuations during the month for a number of domestic and foreign issues to illustrate the trend of the market.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING FEBRUARY 1931.

There was no change of importance in the condition of the money market during the month of March. As for a long time previously, it remained in a state of extreme ease, with short-term funds in such superabundance, owing to the general congestion of funds, that inordinately low rates had to be accepted if employment was to be found for the immense mass of idle money. Changes in rates, too, were inconsequential, except in the case of call loans on the Stock Exchange, where a new low record for a long series of years was established, and where the course of fluctuations, while encompassed within narrow limits, may be said to have been almost entirely the result of the operations of the United States Treasury, these operations themselves, as already noted, having been of unusual dimensions. This Stock Exchange call loan rate throughout the entire month did not deviate from 1½% except when affected temporarily by such operations. The 1½% rate had remained unaltered at 1½% since Jan. 2, but on Thursday, Mar. 5, after renewals had again been effected at 1½%, the rate advanced later in the day to 2% for new loans. This experience was repeated on Friday, Mar. 6—that is, there was an advance to 2% in the rate for new loans after renewals had been put through at the customary figure of 1½%. On the following Monday, Mar. 9, the renewal rate was again 1½%, with new loans at 2%, while on Tuesday, Mar. 10, all loans were at 2%, including renewals; but on Wednesday, Mar. 11, after renewals had once more been put through at 2%, the rate for new loans fell back to 1½%, and this latter remained the rate for both new loans and for renewals day after day until Friday, Mar. 20, when, after renewals had again been effected at 1½%, there was a drop in the rate for new loans to 1%, the lowest figure touched in nearly 16 years, or since June 3 1915. Both the early rise to 2%, and the later drop to 1%, grew directly out of Treasury operations, the first by reason of the extinction of Government deposits with the depositary banks, and the second because of the establishment of a new line of Government deposits with the banks (against which Government deposits no reserves are required) of huge amount. In the early part of March the payment of the last of the deposits resulting from the sale of certificates of indebtedness made the previous December was required, under two calls upon the banks which came in quick succession, one requiring the payment of $60,623,800 on Mar. 3 and the second and final call, the repayment of $40,416,000 on Mar. 6, both within the same week, and calling together for repayment of $101,039,800. The advance in the call loan rate to 2% occurred on this last mentioned date, though possibly the turnover resulting from the payment the day before for $100,000,000 of bonds sold by the City of New York may also have played some part in the stiffening of the rate. For a few days now, some loans, as indicated, were made each day at 2%, but then there was a return to the 1½% rate, as underlying conditions of ease remained unaltered.

Within a week, however, a new line of Government deposits was created, through the sale of the two new series of certificates of indebtedness, for which the allotments reached $924,067,500 and payment for which had to be made on Monday, Mar. 16. Government deposits with the depositary banks growing out of the sale of this huge total of certificates, the proceeds of which are allowed to remain with the banks until needed by the Government, reached the immense sum of $712,510,000. Against such Government deposits, be it remembered, no reserves are required. In these circumstances it is not strange that the drop in the Stock Exchange call loan rate to 1% should have occurred on Friday, Mar. 20, four days after payment for the new certificates had to be made. But almost immediately (because of the large sums needed to meet the soldier bonus loans) the Treasury had to begin to draw down these deposits. In fact, the first payment on account of the deposits had to be made on Mar. 20, when the 1% rate on the Stock Exchange was recorded, the banks having been notified on Tuesday, Mar. 17, that they would be obliged to repay a portion of the deposits on the day referred to. This repayment, however, involved only $19,032,100 in the New York Reserve District and $49,875,700 for the entire country, including New York, out of total deposits in the New York Reserve District of $271,887,500, and of $712,510,000 for the entire country, including New York.

Further calls, however, followed in quick succession. On Mar. 20 instructions came notifying the depositary banks in the New York Federal Reserve District that they would have to repay $20,228,700 on Mar. 24, and the same amount on Mar. 25, making, together, $40,457,400 in this Reserve District, while in like manner the depositary banks for the entire country, including New York, had to repay $53,010,700 on each of the days mentioned, or $106,021,400 for the two days combined. On Mar. 24 another notice came requiring $12,743,800 to be repaid in the New York Reserve District on Mar. 27, and the same amount on Mar. 28, and for the entire country, including New York, repayment of $33,396,800 on each of the two days named, or $66,793,600 together. On Mar. 27 still another notice came calling for repayment on Mar. 31 of $5,607,800 in the New York Reserve District, and of $14,694,600 for the entire country.

This rapid drawing down of Government deposits, with notice of further prospective calls, created a new situation. Call loan rates on the Stock Exchange now began to stiffen. The 1% rate recorded on Friday, Mar. 20, was not repeated the following Monday, Mar. 23, all loans on the Stock Exchange on that day being put through at 1½%, including renewals, and all loaning on Mar. 24 and Mar. 25 being at the same figure. But on Thursday, Mar. 26, after renewals had again been effected at 1½%, the rate for new loans rose to 2%. From this there was a return to the 1½% rate on Friday, Mar. 27, all loaning on that day being at that figure, and this single rate again ruled the following Monday, Mar. 30, but on Tuesday, Mar. 31, after renewals had been continued at 1½%, there was again an advance to 2% in the rate for new loans. On this last mentioned day, preparations for the large 1st of April payments for dividends and interest, which always rank among the heaviest of the year, even though the present year they were not as large as in the years immediately preceding, doubtless also played some part in stiffening rates. There were no concessions in the outside market from the Stock Exchange rate the latter part of the month, but there were concessions on many occasions the rest of the month, the outside rate often then being no higher than 1%.

The time loan branch of the market continued inactive, and business was at a virtual standstill, there being practically no demand for this class of accommodation. There were some slight fractional variations in the rates for some of the periods. Otherwise quoted rates for time loans were without change. The daily record for time loans is shown in the table which follows:

Greater activity prevailed in the market for commercial paper, and paper was also in better supply most of the time. Rates for choice names of four to six months' maturity continued at 2½%, while names less well-known commanded 2¾@3%. Occasional transactions occurred at 2¼% in maturities running for six months, and also in the case of shorter and exceptionally choice names. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review" dated April 1, in discussing the paper market, made the following observations:

"The continuation of a good investment demand for commercial paper was reported during March. The quantity of new drawings of prime paper that came into the market, however, remained far below the investment inquiry, so that little sales effort on the part of dealers was required in order to distribute the paper. Numerous blocks of new paper were quickly oversold, and as this condition naturally was conducive to lower rates, some of the exceptionally high grade paper began to appear in the market priced at 2¼%. The prevailing rate for prime paper, nevertheless, remained at 2½% until late in March, when a decline to a range of 2¼@2½% occurred.

"The lack of open market paper was shown in the outstandings of 20 dealers at the end of February, which at $315,000,000 were 3½% smaller than a month earlier, whereas the usual seasonal tendency at this time of year is upward. As compared with the outstandings in February a year ago, there has been a net reduction of 31%. The decline has been practically continuous since April of last year, which marked the recent peak of commercial paper outstandings."

The market for bankers' acceptances developed no special features during March. The demand for acceptances was at all times brisk, and the supply of bills greatly improved the latter part of the month. The holdings of bills by the Federal Reserve Banks varied greatly from week to week. After falling from $106,317,000 Feb. 25 to $100,555,000 Mar. 4, they increased to $151,402,000 Mar. 11, then fell to $83,272,000 Mar. 25, but were $166,622,000 April 1. The holdings of bills purchased by the Reserve Banks for their foreign correspondents, while varying more or less from week to week, were $430,784,000 April 1 against $453,814,000 Feb. 25. There were no changes in the rates for acceptances during the month. The Reserve Bank likewise made no change in its purchasing rate for bankers' acceptances, this remaining at 1½% for bills running from 1 to 45 days, and 1⅝% for bills running from 46 to 120 days. The American Acceptance Council, in a statement made available Mar. 19, showed that, contrary to usual behavior at this season of the year, the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding recorded no reduction of any importance during the month of February. The total of bankers' acceptances outstanding on the last day of February was $1,519,857,484, which was only $332,399 less than the total reported on Jan. 31. Not for years, it was stated, had there been such a close record of acceptance volume for two months as was revealed in the report covering the period from Dec. 31 to Feb. 28, and particularly during the month of February. The total Feb. 28 1931 was $104,041,734 less than the total for Feb. 28 1930. A moderate amount of new credits on products in which the Farm Board and Stabilization Board are interested, it was noted, had come into the New York market during the month and accounted for an increase in the volume in the New York Federal Reserve District.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

Brokers' loans by the reporting member banks in New York City, after the increase during February, registered a further increase during March, but showed contraction again the last two weeks of the month. The amount of the loans, after decreasing from $1,798,000,000 Feb. 25 to $1,790,000,000 Mar. 4, rose to $1,913,000,000 Mar. 18, then fell to $1,908,000,000 Mar. 25, and to $1,875,000,000 April 1, which, however, compared with $3,968,000,000 12 months before, on Mar. 31. The changes in the different categories of loaning were much the same as in preceding months, that is, they showed an increase in the loans made by the reporting member banks for their own account and reduced loaning by outside lenders. Loans for own account were $1,391,000,000 April 1, against $1,267,000,000 on Feb. 25; loans made for out-of-town banks were $258,000,000 against $260,000,000, and loans "for account of others" $226,000,000 against $271,000,000.

The New York Stock Exchange, in its monthly compilation, also showed a further increase in borrowing during March, following the increase reported during February. The March statement made the "total net loans by New York Stock Exchange members on collateral, contracted for and carried in New York" for Mar. 31 $1,908,810,494 against $1,839,756,058 Feb. 28 and $1,720,345,318 at the close of business on Jan. 31. This, it will be seen, was an increase of $69,054,436 during March and of $118,465,176 for February and March together. Previously there had been an uninterrupted contraction in these monthly totals ever since April 30 of the previous year, when the amount of the Stock Exchange borrowing stood at $5,063,131,359.

The volume of Federal Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks, after showing further reduction, increased again the last week of March. Between Jan. 28 and Feb. 25 the amount of these holdings was reduced from $945,405,000 to $895,607,000, and after some increase in the week ending Mar. 11 (following a small decrease in the week ending Mar. 4), which raised the amount to $928,656,000 Mar. 11, declined to $847,255,000 Mar. 25, but increased again to $928,615,000 April 1. The acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, after being up to $151,402,000 Mar. 11 against $100,555,000 Mar. 4, fell to $83,272,000 Mar. 25, but were $166,622,000 April 1. The holdings of United States Government securities underwent some sharp changes as far as the separate items are concerned, though showing no great changes as far as the grand total of the holdings is concerned. This total rose from $599,443,000 Feb. 25 to $617,746,000 Mar. 18, but then fell to $598,558,000 Mar. 25, and was $598,363,000 April 1. The changes in the separate items of these holdings occurred almost entirely in the week ending Mar. 18, the period the financing of the United States Government was carried through. In this week the holdings of certificates and bills jumped from $350,484,000 to $497,564,000, while the holdings of Treasury notes were reduced from $178,195,000 to $53,223,000, and the holdings of "bonds" fell from $76,025,000 to $66,959,000. Presumably the item of certificates and bills included some one-day certificates representing temporary borrowing by the United States Treasury pending the collection of the Federal income taxes. While no information on that point was furnished in the return, we observe that the New York Federal Reserve Bank in its "Monthly Bulletin" says that the Treasury found it necessary to obtain temporarily $170,000,000 on Mar. 16 from the Reserve Banks against special one-day certificates of indebtedness, and that participation in these certificates totaling $86,000,000 were sold on Mar. 16 to the New York City banks and an additional $20,000,000 to the Boston banks. The big decrease in the holdings of Treasury notes Mar. 18 evidently represented notes which the Reserve Banks had accumulated and now turned in for redemption. The only explanation given in the Reserve statement itself was contained in the remark that "holdings of United States securities, largely as a result of Treasury operations in connection with quarterly tax payments, increased $13,000,000". (The increase in the holdings of certificates and bills had been almost entirely offset by the decreases in the holdings of "notes" and "bonds".) The return for Mar. 25 showed the holdings of certificates and bills down from $497,564,000 to $468,698,000, and the return for April 1 reported the amount at $468,537,000. The holdings of Treasury notes increased again from $53,223,000 to $63,227,000 on Mar. 25, and were $63,226,000 April 1. The holdings of "bonds", after the decrease from $76,025,000 Mar. 11 to $66,959,000 Mar. 18, showed no great change thereafter, being reported at $66,633,000 Mar. 25 and $66,600,000 April 1. The gold reserves of the 12 Reserve Banks rose from $3,081,322,000 Feb. 25 to $3,126,368,000 Mar. 25, and were $3,115,202,000 April 1. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation showed no great changes from week to week until the final week, when there was large expansion, leaving the amount April 1 $1,497,811,000 against $1,448,416,000 Feb. 25.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING MARCH.

The sterling exchange market, while dull, showed a distinctly firm tone in March, and the future was viewed in London with less concern than for some time previously. The exchange situation with respect to France also greatly improved, and the drain of gold by Paris on London ceased. As a consequence the Bank of England was able to acquire much of the offerings of gold in the open market at London, and, accordingly, was able to build up its reserves of the metal, which had become considerably impaired. France evidently took no gold in the London open market except such as had been previously contracted for forward delivery. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York in its "Monthly Review" says: "During March the Bank of England was able to increase its gold holdings by £3,000,000, mainly through the purchase of £2,600,000 of gold in the open market and the receipt of £750,000 in sovereigns from South Africa. On the 17th of the month the Bank of England made its first open market purchase since March 1930. Of the South African gold offered in the open market earlier in the month, France obtained £1,200,000 and Belgium £1,300,000. About 20,000,000 reichsmarks of gold were received by Germany from Russia during the latter part of March.

Money rates eased off somewhat in London, open market discounts for three months' bills on Mar. 31 being quoted at 2⅝% against 2 11/16@2¾% at the end of February, but that did not appear to militate against exchange on London either at Paris or New York, and did not interrupt the acquisition of new supplies of the metal by the Bank of England. For the week ending Mar. 4 the Bank showed an increase of £169,331, which was followed by a slight loss, namely, £32,853, in the week ending Mar. 11, but the return for subsequent weeks all showed very substantial additions to the Bank's stock of the metal, the increase for the week ending Mar. 18 being £1,097,585; for the week ending Mar. 25 £1,691,888, and for the week ending April 1 £868,686. Cable transfers at New York on London the latter part of the month touched 4.86 on a number of different days, and on Mar. 31 were 4.85 13/16@4.85⅞ against $4.85¾@$4.85 13/16 on Monday, Mar. 2. Canadian exchange at New York advanced to par and a premium the first half of the month, but ruled at a discount again the latter half of the month. The United States acquired further considerable amounts of gold during March. This came mostly from Latin America at New York, though some further amounts were received on the Pacific Coast from Japan and China. The New York Federal Reserve Bank summarizes the gold movement for the month as follows:

"Gold imports through the Port of New York during March included chiefly receipts from South America and Mexico; $11,500,000 came from Argentina, $2,900,000 from Colombia, $1,200,000 from Uruguay, and $3,600,000 from Mexico. At San Francisco, $1,600,000 was received from Japan, and $1,600,000 from China. There was in addition a gain of $3,000,000 to the country's gold stock through a decrease in the amount of gold held under earmark for foreign account. Exports were negligible, and a preliminary estimate indicates that the country's gold stock has been increased about $26,500,000, as the result of net imports and changes in earmarked holdings during the month."

As a result of the further increase in gold by the United States during March, the New York Reserve Bank observes, the monetary gold stock of the United States has now attained a level which is slightly above the highest point previously shown by published figures, which was reached in May 1927.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

French exchange was somewhat easier during March and exchange on Belgium was decidedly weak the latter part of March, but with these exceptions rates of exchange at N. Y. on the Continental centers of Europe manifested a rising tendency, with the German mark particularly strong. No change occurred in the discount rates by any of the central banks of Europe except that the Rumanian National Bank on March 31 lowered its rate from 9% to 8%. On March 13 the South African Reserve Bank reduced its rate from 5½ to 5%, being the first change since Sept. 29 1930. The fact that the Bank of England was able to re-enforce its gold holdings seemed to find reflection in rising rates of exchange at some of the other continental centers. Cable transfers on Paris were down to 3.91 3-16c the latter part of March and sold at 3.91 3-16@3.91 5-16c Mar. 31, against 3.91 13-16@3.91 15-16c on March 2. A flow of funds from France to London was largely responsible for the easing of French exchange and for the cessation of French takings of gold. The circumstance that the French banking authorities by agreement were working in co-operation with the banking authorities in London to support the pound sterling was also a factor of course. Throughout the month French francs were under pressure both with respect to the dollar and the pound sterling. Money was so abundant in Paris that French interests found difficulty in placing their funds. Paris in conjunction with other markets is understood to have arranged a loan for Rumania totaling 1,325,000,000 fr. or approximately $51,940,000 and the American participation in it is believed to have been $8,000,000 to $10,000,000. Some weakness was also occasioned by the failure of three of the smaller French banks in connection with the difficulties of the Aero-Postale Co. While it was felt that the failures were due to a single cause and not likely to spread, some nervousness developed in Paris lest the failures be a forerunner of another heavy shifting of French funds such as was witnessed last autumn. The Bank of France continued to add to its holdings of gold, but in diminishing amounts the latter part of the month. For the week ended March 7 the Bank reported an increase of 159,140,207 fr.; for the week ending March 14 the increase was only 12,112,095 fr. and for the week ending March 21, no more than 8,031,867 fr., with 13,557,980 fr. increase in the week ending March 28.

The German mark took a sharp turn upward and cable transfers on Berlin the latter part of March sold as high as 23.84 and March 31 were 23.81½@23.82½ as against 23.76½ March 3. This improvement in the mark appeared to be due largely to the return flow of German funds from other centers, particularly from Switzerland and Holland, with an inflow, too, of other funds from those centers and from Paris, London and New York into Germany to take advantage of the higher level of money rates. Another element of strength was the financing of the Berlin City Electric Co. by an international group of bankers. Advices from Berlin stated that 75,000,000 marks or approximately $30,000,000 of foreign funds would be sent to Germany as a result of this operation. Towards the close of the month money rates in Berlin declined considerably as a result of the influx of new capital and this appeared further to promote confidence in German investments. Another stimulating factor was the growing strength manifested by the German ministry under Dr. Heinrich Bruening in the German Reichstag. Acceptance of the German budget by the Reichstag occurred on March 25 and this was followed the next day by adjournment of that body for 6 months or until October 13, this marking the closing of the winter session. The Bank of Germany showed an increase in its gold holdings in the first quarter of the month of 285,000 marks; a further increase of 791,000 marks in the second quarter, but a loss of 61,000 marks in the third quarter, with an increase again of 37,280,000 marks in the fourth quarter. The Italian lira showed no great variation in rates, but continued to rule at close to the highest figures of the year, one factor in this being that the adverse trade balance against Italy was being steadily diminished.

Exchange rates on the countries neutral during the war moved higher in the case of the Scandinavian centers, but were softer in the case of Swiss francs and decidedly lower in the case of the Dutch guilder, though in this last instance there was considerable recovery the latter half of the month. Cable transfers on Amsterdam dropped from 40.11 March 2 to 40.07½ Mar. 16, but were back to 40.10½ Mar. 24 and sold March 31 at 40.08@40.09. The break gave rise to reports of the possibility of gold exports to New York, but the general opinion seemed to be that the Bank of the Netherlands would intervene to prevent this by the use of its foreign balances. This evidently was what happened the latter part of the month. The repeated weakness in guilders was ascribed largely to the lower money rates in Amsterdam, the private discount rate having dropped to 1%, inducing a heavy flow of Dutch funds to Berlin, London and even to New York for more profitable employment. The recovery in Dutch exchange the latter part of the month was believed by New York bankers to have been due to intervention on the part of the Bank of the Netherlands, it being the practice of this central bank to use its foreign balances in order to hold its gold reserves intact. In the case of Swiss exchange cable transfers on Switzerland sold at 19.23¾ Mar. 31. against 19.24¾@19.25 Mar. 2. The Scandinavian currencies quite generally ruled higher, notwithstanding a further movement of funds from these countries to the Berlin and London markets. This, however, was after some weakness the early part of the month. The Swedish crown on cable transfers declined from 26.79 Mar. 5 to 26.76½ Mar. 10, but then rose to 26.79¼ Mar. 24, only to fall back to 26.76½ Mar. 31. The Norwegian crown on cable transfers fell from 26.75½ Mar. 2 to 26.74 Mar. 6, and then advanced to 26.76½ Mar. 16, touching that point again Mar. 23 and Mar. 24, with the range Mar. 31 26.75¼@26.75½. The Danish crown followed much the same general course, it first declining and then recovering, and after selling at 26.76 Mar. 23 closed Mar. 31 at 26.74½@26.75. The Spanish peseta fluctuated widely, but with the general trend upward as the result of the extension towards the close of the month of an international stabilization credit to the Bank of Spain aggregating $60,000,000 under guarantee of the Spanish Treasury, by comprehensive banking groups in New York and Paris, headed respectively by J. P. Morgan & Co., and the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas. The credit is in the form of an 18 months revolving fund of which the American portion is $38,000,000 and the French portion $22,000,000. The rate at which stabilization of the peseta is to be effected has been left for future determination to be governed by what experience and developments shall dictate. Cable transfers on Madrid sold as high as 10.98 on March 10, but were down again to 10.35½ March 18, then recovering to 10.90 March 28 and being 10.92@10.94 March 31, against 10.44@10.50 Mar. 7. King Alfonso on Sunday March 22, issued a decree completely re-establishing constitutional guarantees in Spain for the first time since the beginning of the Primo de Rivera dictatorship in 1923. The decree was more sweeping than that issued just before the fall of the Berenguer government and which was intended to prepare the way for the municipal and general elections. With municipal elections now scheduled for April 12, rights of free speech and assembly were re-established as a necessary preliminary, but the movement was immediately followed by demands for the establishment of a republic in Spain and by new outbreaks of rioting by university students. Except for this the formal announcement of the arrangement for the 860,000,000 credits which was made late on Thursday March 26, might have had a greater strengthening influence on the rate of the peseta.

Exchange on the South American countries followed much the same course in March as during February, the Argentine peso continuing to show improvement, while the Brazilian milreis suffered a further sharp break. Cable transfers on Brazil were nominally quoted at 7.30 Mar. 24 and closed at 7.50@7.55 March 31, against 8.20@8.30 on March 2. Business in Brazil is generally poor and money tight, and the banks in Brazil protested against the strict regulation of foreign exchange operations which the government has maintained ever since the revolution. It is believed that the government as a result relaxed some of its control, but not all. General business continues depressed in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo with large operators seemingly waiting Sir Otto Niemeyer's decision on the reform of Brazilian finances and currency before commencing their activities. The improvement in the Argentine peso, cable transfers for which sold up to 34.90 March 11, and closed March 31 at 34¾@34.80 against 33.15@33¼ March 2, was due to the active measures taken by the new Government to support the peso by sending gold to New York and London and growing confidence in the business outlook in Argentina. The Peruvian sol for checks advanced from 27.17 March 2 to 28.50 March 28, and was 28.45 March 31 notwithstanding a new revolutionary uprising and announcement by the Peruvian government on March 27 that it would be unable to pay in full the interest charge on the foreign debt of the republic.

In exchange on the Far East, the feature was the rise in the price of silver, this having the effect of improving exchange rates on all the silver using countries. Another stimulating influence was the successful outcome of negotiations between Mahatma Gandhi and Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India. Great importance was attached to the truce signed by them marking an end of civil disobediance to British rule. The price of silver in London was quoted at 14½d per oz. on March 16, against 12d on Feb. 9, with the close March 31, however, lower at 13 3-16d. The Hong Kong dollar on checks sold at 26 1-16 March 16, against 22⅝ March 2, and was 25@25 3-16 March 31. The tael on Shanghai advanced from 29¼ March 2 to 32⅝ March 14, and was 32 March 31. The Japanese gold yen was somewhat lower, being quoted at 49.33@49½ March 31 against 49.36@49 9-16 March 2.

The tables on pages 18 to 40 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during March and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bond are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

Banks & Trust Companies

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF APRIL—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

If March was a disappointing month, as related by us in reviewing the events of that month, April was a period of great and growing gloom, marked by many disturbing features, with the security markets, bonds as well as stocks, staging a new collapse and with an almost total absence of any developments of a reassuring nature, such as would dispel the feeling of gloom referred to and encourage hopes of brighter visions immediately ahead. As a result, a spirit of despondency and despair seized possession of the business and financial world, which found expression in the further break in the security markets already referred to. Unfortunately, too, reports of dwindling profits and of income and earnings, as revealed by the statements and returns of railroad and industrial corporations for March and the first quarter of the year, accompanied by numerous dividend reductions and suspensions, came as unpleasant reminders, day after day, of the magnitude and all pervading character of the industrial crisis through which the country, and, in larger or smaller degree, all the rest of the world, is passing, and the distress and suffering that this is causing throughout the whole economic structure, to an extent and degree that involves reconsideration and revision of previously accepted views with respect to many things in this mechanized era that had never before been seriously and widely challenged.

On this last-mentioned point, namely the falling off in business and profits owing to the bad times, there were many disclosures and revelations that were perfectly startling as to the extent to which the business structure of the country was being undermined. Even concerns that had been deemed citadels of strength, with managements of a most superior type, and whose plants and structures had been kept constantly up to date and modernized to the fullest extent, mainly by the application of surplus earnings, were found not to be immune to the ill effects of business depression and suffered hardly less severely than crippled concerns with impaired capacity would have been expected to do under the sweep of business adversity. A few instances will serve for illustration. The United States Steel Corp. certainly constitutes a symbol of an industrial concern of the highest and best type, with plant facilities second to no other in the same line of industry, and able to turn out products at a minimum of costs. In prosperous times its profits are perfectly enormous—of such extent as to leave a wide margin of profit and large enough to enable it to to cover its ordinary dividend requirements even in times of great trade depression. Not so, however, in the present instance. The current depression has worked such havoc that this great industrial concern earned practically nothing on its share capital during the three months ending Mar. 31. The directors of the company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the common shares, but had to take nearly the whole amount for the purpose out of accumulated surplus, which, fortunately, is of vast extent. The actual amount earned on the common stock during the March quarter, after allowing for expenses, fixed charges, &c., was only 5c. a share, against the $1.75 needed to pay the current rate of distribution. The earnings of the Steel Corp. for the March quarter of 1931, before the deduction of charges for interest, depreciation, depletion, &c., was only $19,464,836, against $49.615.397 in the first quarter of 1930 and $61,978,985 in the first quarter of 1929. After allowing for the fixed charges the net profit remaining was only $6,765,057 for the quarter in 1931, against $33,381,171 in 1930 and $42,185,447 in 1929. The dividend for the preferred stock outstanding at the rate of 7% per annum took $6,304,919 of this $6.765,057 profit, leaving only $460,138 for the common stock as against $29,472,888 remaining for the common shares in the first quarter of 1930 and $35,880,528 remaining in the first three months of 1929. Against $460.138 earned for the common shares the dividend requirements were $15,223,378, leaving a deficiency for the quarter in the amount needed to pay the dividend of $14,763,240, in comparison with a surplus above the dividend requirement in the March quarter of 1930 of $14,491,355, and a surplus in the March quarter of 1929 of $23,427,117. This deficiency of $14,763,240 had to be made good out of accumulated surplus in order to maintain the current rate of distribution of 7% a year. This statement for the quarter was issued after the close of business on Tuesday, April 28. An unfavorable statement had been looked for, but nothing quite so bad as this, and, indeed, the exhibit proved far worse than anyone inside or outside the trade had supposed would be the case. The shares of the company had been weak all through the month of April, and after the appearance of this statement suffered a further violent decline. The stock opened Wednesday morning, April 29, at 121½ against the closing price the day before of 124⅜, and then dropped to 115, with the close on that day at 115¼, showing a net drop for the day of 9⅛. This was the lowest level reached by the stock since 1927. A recovery to 120¾ on Thursday, April 30, occurred, though the next day (May 1) the shares dropped still lower, touching 113½, and they declined still further on subsequent days in May. This compared with 152⅜ only a little over two months previously, on Feb. 26, and with 198¾ in April last year, and with 261¾ in September 1929, just before the panic of the latter year.

These figures are cited here because they afford a good illustration of the severity of the business depression and what it involves, and likewise furnish an explanation for the complete demoralization into which the stock market again fell during the month of April. Of course, too, the U. S. Steel Corp. does not stand alone in its experience or constitute an isolated instance of the kind. The Bethlehem Steel Corp. made its report for the March quarter public a few days subsequently, that is, on Thursday, April 30, and this was of the same unfavorable character. Bethlehem Steel showed only 6c. a share earned on the common stock in the first three months of 1931 against $2.60 per share in the first three months of 1930 and $4.05 in the first quarter of 1929. The net income available for dividends was only $1,941,942 against $10 077,486 in the first quarter of 1930 and $9,045,590 for the first quarter of 1929. The preferred stock dividend for the quarter took $1,750,000 out of the $1,941,942 available, leaving only $191,942 available for distribution on the common shares. In this case the dividend on the common stock was reduced from $1.50 a share for the quarter to $1.00, but even on the basis of this lower dividend distribution the requirement for the dividend was $3,200,000 as against current surplus for the quarter of only $191,942, leaving a deficiency of $3,008,058 which had to be drawn from the accumulated surplus of previous years.

The returns of the railroads were of the same discouraging nature. They showed in most cases net earnings for the quarter in 1931 of only about one-third in amount of those two years ago, and in some instances not more than one-fourth or one-fifth the net of 1929. This is true of the leading railroad systems in all parts of the country, not any escaping in the general process of the annihilation of net earnings as the result of huge losses in traffic and in gross revenues, which it was possible to offset only in part by the curtailment of expenses. The New York Central showed net operating income for the three months ending Mar. 31 in 1931 of only $7,337,301, against $14,455,668 in the first three months of 1930, and $22,646,196 in the first three months of 1929; the Pennsylvania RR., $9,309,004 in 1931 against $19,935,036 in 1930 and $27,452,075 in 1929; the Wabash only $607,778 in 1931 against $1,616,312 in 1930 and $3,217,462 in 1929; the Illinois Central (which during the month reduced its dividend from the basis of 7% per annum to 4%), $1,096,852 in 1931 against $5,357,191 in 1930 and $7,293,582 in 1929, the amount for 1931 in this case being only a trifle over one-seventh of the amount for 1929. In the Southwest the Atchison showed net operating income for the three months of 1931 of only $4,072,356 against $12,250,175 in the same three months of 1929, and the Southern Pacific net for 1931 of $2,128,336, or less than one-fifth the amount of the net for 1929 at $11,474,545. In the Northwest, the Chic. Milw. St. Paul & Pac. has net to its credit of only $1,705,912 for the three months of 1931, against $5,046,370 for the three months of 1929, while in the South the Southern Railway reports net operating income of no more than $1,565,580 for the March quarter of 1931 compared with $6,237,598 in 1929 and $8,399,007 in 1928.

In other lines of activity the shrinkage in earnings and profits has been little less pronounced, with very few exceptions. Among the automobile concerns the General Motors Corp. showed net earnings of only $28,999,409 for the first quarter of 1931 against $44,968,587 in 1930, $61,910,987 in 1929, and $69,468,576 in 1928. The Chrysler Corp. reports net sales for the three months of 1931 of only $39,758,601 against $60,607,155 in 1930, and $99,831,619 in 1929, with gross profits of only $4,843,363 in 1931 compared with $7,143,300 in 1930, and $18,096,701 in 1929. The Yellow Truck & Coach Manufacturing Co. showed net sales of only $5,160,375 for the three months of 1931 against $10,729,996 in 1930, and $12,921,999 in 1929, and it fell $802,875 short of meeting its administrative and selling expenses in 1931 against net above such expenses in 1930 of $2,441,513 and $2,508,339 in 1929. Western Union Telegraph reported net income above expenses and fixed charges of only $1,278,877 in the March quarter of 1931 against $1,808,751 in 1930 and $3,714,360 in 1929. Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. reported net sales billed for the three months of $27,837,160 in 1931 against $45,043,934 in 1930, $45,680,249 in 1929, and $45,449,794 in 1928, with a net loss from operations of $2,885,945 in 1931 against an operating profit in 1930 of $4,546,618 and of $5,631,700 in 1929. The National Cash Register Co. operated at a net loss of $385,147 in the March quarter of 1931 against a profit of $974,216 in 1930 and $1,993,940 in 1929. Studebaker Corp. reported net sales of only $19,259,778 for the three months of 1931 against $24,714,186 in 1930 and $42,712,718 in 1929, with a net profit for 1931 of only $932,977 against $1,492,137 in 1930 and $5,033,589 in 1929.

Along with these poor statements of earnings and profits, there came numerous notices of reductions or omissions of dividend payments. We have already referred to the reduction from 7% per annum to 4% in the dividend declaration of the Illinois Central RR. and the marking down of the dividend on Bethlehem Steel common from a basis of $6 per share to $4 per share. Allis Chalmers cut its quarterly dividend from 75c. a share to 50c., and the St. Joseph Lead Co. lowered its quarterly dividend from 50c. a share to 25c. The Vanadium Corp. passed its dividend altogether, and several other companies did the same thing. Gen. Tire & Rubber reduced from $1.00 a share for the quarter on common to 75c.; the United States Rubber Realty & Improvement Co. declared a quarterly dividend of only 50c. a share as against 75c. paid in each of the two previous quarters and $1.25 a share paid prior to that. The Owens-Illinois Glass Co. also reduced its quarterly dividend from 75c. a share to 50c. The Nome Electric Co. cut its quarterly dividend on the common from 20c. a share to 10c. a share; Ontario Steel Products Co. made its quarterly dividend only 20c. a share against the previous 40c., while the directors of G. R. Kinney Co., Inc., omitted the quarterly dividend of 25c. a share on the common stock and the quarterly of $2 on the preferred stock. Julius Kayser & Co. made its quarterly dividend only 25c. a share against the previous 62½c. However, it is not necessary to go into further detailed enumeration, as further along in this article a complete list of the dividend changes for the month is given, including both those of an unfavorable nature, where the dividend has been either reduced or omitted, and those of a favorable nature where dividends have been increased or inaugurated or resumed. A general idea of the situation in respect to dividends is given when we say there were no less than 124 unfavorable changes during the month and only 16 changes of the opposite character.

FAILURE OF PYNCHON & CO.

In addition to all the foregoing there was a new outcropping of failures on the Stock Exchange. The first of these was announced during the closing hour of trading on the Stock Exchange on Friday, April 24, and involved Pynchon & Co., one of the largest Stock Exchange houses in the country, with liabilities of some $40,000,000. Announcement was made from the rostrum of the New York Stock Exchange at 2:22 p. m. on that day (April 24) by Allen L. Lindley, Vice-President of the Exchange, that the firm had been suspended for insolvency, having notified the Exchange that they were unable to meet their obligations. Pynchon & Co. had its main office at 111 Broadway, and maintained four branches offices in this city, at 60 Beaver Street, 334 Madison Avenue, the Heckscher Building, and the Savoy-Plaza Hotel, besides branches in Chicago, Milwaukee, Battle Creek, Mich.; London, Eng.; Liverpool, Eng.; and Paris, France. Partners in the firm were: George M. Pynchon, Benjamin G. Lathrop, C. Bucknam, James L. Martin, H. Nicholas Edwards, Jack C. Sturtevant, Curtis A. McWhinney, William F. Ingold, James W. Sims, George M. Pynchon, Jr., N. H. Fergusson, E. T. Paul, W. E. Reis, Leo T. Melly, W. Stapley Wonham, Harlan Burr Eldred, Wilbur F. McWhinney (floor member of the Exchange), Richard A. Aishton, Frederick Harry Woods, John N. Helmke, Jr., William Henry Colvin, Jr., and Preston Lockwood. The New York "Evening Post", in reporting the suspension, said in part:

> Announcement of the suspension, the most important since the failures which accompanied the dark days of last fall, was made at 2:22 p. m. from the rostrum of the Stock Exchange and was preceded by heavy selling of stocks.
> The house was reported to be carrying loans approximating $38,000,000 this morning.
> The selling wave in stocks was stemmed by a strong support thrown behind such market leaders as United States Steel and American Can, and a moderate rally took place before the close of the market.
> Pynchon & Co. became interested in the Fox Film situation about a year ago, when Harley L. Clarke, a Chicago financier and head of the Utilities Power & Light Co., was successful in ending a bitter struggle between William Fox and banking interests over control of the film concern. Mr. Clarke gained control of the company for General Theatres and was elected President. Pynchon & Co. had acted as bankers for his companies.
> A statement issued by the Stock Exchange said Pynchon & Co. had notified it that it was unable to meet obligations.
> What caused the insolvency of the house was not disclosed, but presumably it had some connection with the sharp breaks this week in two issues traded on the Stock Exchange in which it was interested, Fox Film and General Theatres Equipment. The latter broke yesterday to around $5 a share from $8, and Fox Film shares have been one of the outstanding weak spots of the market recently.
> The Pynchon insolvency was the first this year on the Stock Exchange, and the most important since the closing of Prince & Whitely last autumn. Reports of dissension over financing plans for Fox Film accompanied the recent sharp fall in Fox and General Theatres shares and were believed responsible for uneasiness in the amusement group.
> Pynchon & Co. formerly was active in underwriting, but was understood to have retired from the field at the end of last year.
> It was an important commodity brokerage house, holding membership in the New York Cotton Exchange, the Chicago Board of Trade, the Rubber Exchange of New York, the New York Cocoa Exchange, the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and other leading commodity markets.

That the firm had wide ramification is made plain in the following account which appeared in the New York "Sun" on the evening of the same day:

> In Chicago Pynchon & Co. for years carried on a large business in grain and were also interested in cotton. The Board of Trade in Chicago posted a notice after its closing this afternoon announcing that Pynchon & Co. had been suspended from transacting business there, as is required under the rules of that body. . . .

Pynchon & Co. held second position in the syndicate which underwrote in 1929 and 1930 the senior financing for General Theatres Equipment, Inc., which now controls Fox Film Corp. Pynchon headed the group offering General Theatres common stock in July 1929, and a Pynchon partner, W. F. Ingold, is one of the three voting trustees of the stock. The General Theatres bonds offered at 99½ a year ago are selling now around $45; the common stock, offered at $32, is now about $6.

The firm also had a prominent role in the financing for Utilities Power & Light Corp., of which Harley L. Clarke, President of General Theatres and Fox, is President.

The stock markets withstood the shock well. Immediately after the announcement from the rostrum of the Exchange, Fox Film A stock, which dropped sharply yesterday, broke more than a point to a level below 18. General Theatres Equipment and Utilities Power & Light also were weak. This selling was quickly absorbed, and rallying tendencies set in almost at once.

General Gas & Electric shares, of which several classes are listed on the Stock Exchange, were also sufferers from the Pynchon suspension. General Gas & Electric B, selling for the first time this year, was off about 20 points from the previous transaction, when 200 shares changed hands at $4 a share. The preferred stock also declined.

On the Curb Exchange this afternoon occurred an echo of the suspension in the form of a 16-point drop in American States Public Service A stock. The break took place in the final few minutes of trading. The stock is one of those in which Pynchon & Co. were interested.

FAILURE OF WEST & CO.

This was followed the following Monday, April 27, by news that the Philadelphia brokerage house of West & Co., members of the New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges and some leading trade bodies, had succumbed. This was a concern of far less consequence than Pynchon & Co., but yet had extensive connections, and as a matter of fact, had been associated with Pynchon & Co. in some of their undertakings. The firm the same day was placed in the hands of receivers by Judge W. H. Kirkpatrick in the United States District Court in Philadelphia. The receivership followed an announcement by the firm earlier in the day that it was unable to meet its obligations, which resulted in its suspension by the New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges. John Arthur Brown, an attorney, was appointed receiver by the Court under a bond of $100,000. Announcement of the firm's suspension from the New York Stock Exchange was made by President Richard Whitney from the rostrum of the Exchange at 11:03 o'clock Monday morning, April 27, after the company had notified the Exchange it was unable to meet its obligations. Partners in the firm were as follows: William West (special partner), Harry C. Thayer, William W. Watson, Jr., J. West Rulon Cooper, Hugh R. Partridge, Samuel Cochran Finnell, Charles Sheridan, Bryce Blynn, William W. Hepburn, Thomas G. Stockhausen (floor member of the Exchange), W. Knowlton Hoag, Edward C. Cassard, Elmer E. Rodenbough (special partner), Grenville D. Montgomery (special partner), and Howard W. Hunter (special partner). In addition to its Philadelphia office at 1616 Walnut Street, and its New York office at 63 Wall Street, the firm maintained branches in Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, N. Y.; Manchester, N. H.; Atlanta, Ga.; San Francisco, and the following cities in the State of Pennsylvania; Allentown, Altoona, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, Pottsville, Reading, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport, and York. Following the suspension of the firm from the New York and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges, a statement was issued by the Philadelphia office of the company, which read:

This morning at 11 o'clock we informed the Stock Exchanges that, due to our present inability to meet our obligations, we felt it our duty to our customers and other creditors to suspend business. This we have done. We shall co-operate in every way with our customers and other creditors to work out the best possible results in their interests.

In its account of the failure, the New York "Times" of Tuesday, April 28, said in part:

The suspended firm of West & Co. is understood to have obligations approximating $5,000,000. The firm engaged principally in a commission business, but has occasionally participated in underwriting syndicates.

West & Co. was said to have been interested in some of the securities sponsored by Pynchon & Co. and was associated with Pynchon in underwriting operations among public utility and amusement enterprises. For this reason Wall Street looked upon the West suspension as a repercussion of the Pynchon closing.

The operations of West & Co. were relatively small compared to those of Pynchon. It was largely a Philadelphia house and made its headquarters in that city. . . .

The firm was 30 years old, having been formed in 1901 as Henry & West. The name of West & Co. was taken in 1917. The firm held a membership in the New York Curb and that Exchange followed the example of the Stock Exchange in announcing its suspension. Mr. Cassard was the firm's floor member on the Curb. . . .

William West, a special partner and senior member of the firm, long has been prominent in Philadelphia. He is a director in a number of enterprises.

West & Co. was an active member of Distributors Group, Inc., sponsors and national distributors of North American Trust Shares. William W. Watson, Jr., is President of Distributors' Group. West & Co. owns approximately 15% of the stock.

Distributors' Group yesterday issued the following statement:

"West & Co. are not indebted to Distributors' Group, Inc., in any way, either directly or indirectly, nor is Distributors' Group. Inc., indebted to that firm.

"West & Co. have been but one of a large number of stockholders, including many important investment houses and affiliates of prominent banks scattered throughout the United States, Canada, England and Continental Europe. The stock ownership of any one house represents a decided minority interest, and, in the case of West & Co., their stock holding represented less than 15% of the outstanding shares of Distributors' Group, Inc."

The wholesale distribution functions of the suspended firm for the trust distributors were assumed by the home office of Distributors' Group here yesterday (April 27).

Although West & Co. has participated in many large banking groups which have brought out important issues during recent years, only on a comparatively few occasions has the firm headed its own syndicates. Early this month West & Co. was associated with a group headed by Harris, Forbes & Co., which marketed a new issue of $4,000,000 Atlanta Gas Co. notes.

Last year West & Co. was associated with Pynchon & Co. in the offering of 433,000 shares fo General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common stock at a price of 48½. In 1928 West & Co. headed syndicates which offered bonds, debentures, and preferred stock of the Standard Telephone Co.

REARRANGEMENT OF AFFAIRS OF OTIS & CO.—CYRUS S. EATON RETIRES FROM MANAGEMENT OF CONTINENTAL SHARES, INC.

The developments of the month also had to do with another Stock Exchange firm of large prominence, namely, Otis & Co., which had been acting for Cyrus S. Eaton, the Cleveland capitalist, who had risen to considerable prominence and had undertaken to carry through some large undertakings, the securities of which had suffered severe depreciation. Mr. Eaton had also acquired distinction in opposing the proposed $1,000,000,000 merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with Bethlehem Steel. Here a realignment of the financial interests of Mr. Eaton and Otis & Co. was effected over the week-end and announced to the newspapers on Sunday night, April 26, and printed by them with great display headings on the first page on Monday morning, April 27, indicating the importance attached to the plan adopted for straightening out some decidedly involved affairs and which had apparently been hanging as a cloud over the financial world and the Stock Exchange for some time, but which now appeared to be in process of removal. Simultaneously with the announcement that Mr. Eaton had resigned as Chairman of Continental Shares, Inc., one of the largest investment trusts in the country, and that this organization had severed relations with the New York Stock Exchange firm of Otis & Co., it was disclosed that the Otis concern had transferred its commission brokerage business to E. A. Pierce & Co. The effect of these shifts is to eliminate the Eaton interests from the management of Continental Shares and to split the extensive business of Otis & Co., Mr. Eaton's stock Exchange house, into two pieces, with its stock brokerage activities turned over to Pierce & Co. Otis & Co. continue as a Stock Exchange house, retaining their memberships in that institution, but they will operate hereafter as an investment concern. Otis & Co., in which Mr. Eaton was one of the moving spirits, made the following announcement:

"Otis & Co., having decided to segregate their investment from their commission business, have entered into an arrangement whereby their Stock Exchange transactions will be handled through E. A. Pierce & Co., the accounts of the related customers to be carried directly by E. A. Pierce & Co. Otis & Co. will continue as members of the New York and other Stock Exchanges and maintain, generally speaking, all their present offices, acting in so far as commission transactions are concerned as representatives of E. A. Pierce & Co. This status will enable clients of such offices to have uninterrupted contact with Otis & Co.'s personnel with whom they have hitherto dealt.

"The standing of E. A. Pierce & Co. in the financial community and their widespread connections as members of most of the leading security and commodity exchanges of this country and Canada are such as to insure to customers the safe, efficient and agreeable treatment of their accounts."

The upheaval in Continental Shares involved the election of the heads of four leading Cleveland banks to the directorate, in succession to Mr. Eaton and his associates. The retiring members, besides Mr. Eaton, were: W. R. Burwell, President of Continental Shares; M. J. Mandelbaum and Philip Wick of Wick of Co. The new directors are: W. M. Baldwin, President of the Union Trust Co.; Harris Creech, President of the Cleveland Trust Co.; J. Arthur House, President of the Guardian Trust Co., and C. E. Sullivan, Chairman of the Central United National Bank. The Cleveland banks represented by these new directors apparently acquired control of Continental Shares. The four new directors, together with George T. Bishop, J. A. Hadden and H. B. Stewart, who were elected to the board a few months ago, now constitute the full directorate.

The New York "Times", in discussing the rise of Mr. Eaton, had the following to say in its issue of April 27:

Mr. Eaton, known as one of the most aggressive and successful capitalists in the Middle West, first came into national prominence by his opposition to the Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet & Tube merger. He carried his fight into the courts and one of the bitterest and costliest litigations in history followed. The expense of the suit has been estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Judge David G. Jenkins of the Common Pleas Court of Mahoning County, Ohio, before whom the suit was tried, handed down a decision on Dec. 28 enjoining the proposed consolidation. An appeal was taken later and is now pending. For some months it has been rumored that Youngstown Sheet & Tube was to be merged with Republic Steel, which Mr. Eaton formed.

Mr. Eaton is 48 years old, having been born in 1883 in Pugwash, a fishing village on the Nova Scotia coast. He came to the United States when he was 19, locating in Cleveland. He became interested in banking and in public utilities, in which he made a huge fortune. He joined the financial house of Otis & Co. 15 years ago.

Minority interests in Continental Shares obtained an injunction in March to prevent the holding of a meeting of stockholders. It was charged in the suit that Mr. Eaton and other officers had made improper use of the trust's assets in mergers and other operations. Because of pending litigation the annual meeting, scheduled for Mar. 23, was adjourned.

The above arrangement was very favorably construed and had a beneficial influence upon the stock market at the opening of trading on the Stock Exchange on the morning of Monday, April 27, but unfortunately the news later in the day regarding the embarrassment of West & Co. came in to offset all the advantage thus gained.

STATE OF TRADE.

Accounts regarding the state of trade, as already indicated. were far from satisfactory and contained few, if any, encouraging features. Steel production was on a diminishing scale all through the different weeks of April. This. while in accord with the usual seasonal trend, carried greater significance than usual by reason of the fact that the decline on this occasion was from a low level. According to the "Iron Age", steel ingot output for the country at large was only a fraction above 48% of capacity at the close of April against 57% when at the peak the latter part of March. For the U. S. Steel Corp. capacity was engaged to the extent of 50% at the close of April against 56½% in March. At the same time prices were reported as still having a weak tone, although actual declines, it was stated. were limited mainly to steel scrap. The best the "Age" was able to say in its issue of April 30 was that developments in the iron and steel market had been less uniformly negative than in other recent weeks, and the sagging tendency of demand was less pronounced, although not yet halted. Comment of "Steel", the former "Iron Trade Review", was of the same tenor, that publication saying: "An analysis of current demand for steel, according to its numerous classifications, fails to disclose any important line which is not at a lower level than a week ago, except structurals. Yet it is evident the market is encountering increasing resistance in this downward tendency. "Steel" also remarked that one of the chief supports of the steel market thus far in 1931—moderate demand from the automotive industry—had been somewhat undermined toward the close of the month by a decline in the Ford Motor Co.'s requirements, which seemed to lend substance to the report that the company would shut down at Detroit for two months the coming summer while its assembly plants work off a large surplus of parts. The "Iron Age" referred to the U. S. Steel Corp.'s earnings for the first quarter as having been disappointingly small. The "Age" made the composite price of finished steel April 28 2.128c., the same as a month previously, but comparing with 2.242c. 12 months before. The composite price of pig iron was given as $15.79 as against $15.71 a month previously and $17.67 at the corresponding date in 1930. Scrap steel was down to $10.67 a gross ton, comparing with $11.08 a month earlier and $14.08 at the same date in 1930.

THE NON-FERROUS METALS AND CEMENT.

At the same time, all the non-ferrous metals gave a very poor account of themselves. Copper was especially weak. Some copper sold at 9⅜c. a pound delivered in Connecticut, a new low price for the metal since about 1895. The price of copper for export was reduced on April 29 by the Copper Exporters, Inc., to 9.80c. per pound, a reduction of a quarter of a cent a pound. At New York, electrolytic copper, after being marked up from 9.50c. to 9.75c. on April 11, was reduced again to 9.50c. on April 16, and then marked down to 9.25c. on April 24. Lake copper at New York was kept unchanged at 10⅛c. until April 20, when there was a reduction to 9⅞c. Lead also touched a new low point, the American Smelting & Refining Co. announcing a reduction on April 29 to 4c. a pound, the lowest in the New York market since 1915. The early part of April the price remained at 4.50c., but the latter part of the month repeated reductions were made, first to 4.35c. on April 23, then to 4.25c. on April 24, then to 4.10c. on April 28, and then to 4.00c. on April 29. Zinc also dropped to a new low figure, the price for prime Western zinc at East St. Louis dropping to 3.35c., the lowest price since the '90s. Cement prices acquired a similar distinction, dropping to the lowest level in 15 years. It was noted in the New York "Times" of April 23 that the current quotations in New York City of $1.69 a barrel for cement in paper containers, less all discounts, represented the culmination of a price war that had gained in intensity since the beginning of the year. It was further stated therein:

Covering the territory east of the Rockies, the fight has depressed prices to the lowest points in 15 years. Consumers are reducing purchases in hopes of further reductions. On Jan. 1 the price here was $1.94.

Five reductions in cement were made here this year, the last, on Mar. 30, dropping the price 10c. more. This week there was a reduction of 20c. in the Hudson River territory, besides cuts in the Baltimore district and in parts of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, and Missouri.

Companies east of the Rockies, where more than 75% of the country's cement is consumed, are receiving, it is estimated, about $1 a barrel net in bulk at mills, against about $1.65 a year ago. The present price, resulting from excessive competition in the face of lowered demand, is said to be below the cost of production.

Cement prices touched record low levels on April 30 in the central New York territory and in sections of Massachusetts, intensifying the downward movement that started early in the year. This was noted in the New York "Evening Post" of April 30, which also said:

The new area affected was the up-State section westward from Little Falls to Rochester, where declines of more than 20c. a barrel were reported.

Talk was heard in the trade of a so-called price war and in seeking the limited business, manufacturers were said to have closed contracts with little or no profit.

Production and marketing conditions in various industries were said to have been disturbed in the scramble for contracts.

INTERNATIONAL TIN REGULATION PLAN ADOPTED BY MALAY STATES.

Tin prices, as against 26.60c. on April 1, sold down to 23.75c. April 27, which "Metal and Mineral Markets", under date of April 30, noted closely approached the 23½c. figure set in the middle of last December, which was the lowest figure since 1902. On April 30 the price of tin fell still further to 23.15c. The bill for enforcing the international tin regulation plan in the Federated Malay States was passed unanimously at a meeting of the Federal Council on April 13, according to a cable message received from Ipoh, Malaya. The proposal thus became law in the Federated Malay States, with retroactive provisions covering production and exports from Mar. 1 1931. It was further said:

The initial quota allowed Malaya under the plan is at the rate of 53,925 tons annually. Bolivia, the Dutch Indies, and Nigeria, the other signatories of the international agreement, have already adopted legislation for enforcement of the quotas. Implementation of the agreement, retroactive in each case from Mar. 1 1931, is now complete. Initial quotas for the other countries are at the following rates: Bolivia, 34,260 tons; Dutch East Indies, 29,910 tons; Nigeria, 7,750 tons.

On the basis of the announced quotas, the combined curtailment is at the rate of approximately 22.2% on the 1929 production. Prior to the passage of the bill it was stated:

There has been no open opposition in Malaya to the bill, although minority interests are expected to voice their criticism at the meeting.

The chief basis of complaint is likely to center around the delay in issuing individual domestic quotas, which may easily result in individual quotas being completed or even exceeded before the expiration of the first quarter. Certain local antagonists to the bill are also contending that Malaya did not get a square deal and that Dutch interests have been unduly favored.

The principal Malayan newspaper, however, expresses the opinion that Malayan interests have been fully protected, but urges the Warden of Mines to accelerate the issue of individual quotas to avoid premature exhaustion of the outputs permitted and the risk of consequent unemployment.

From the "Wall Street Journal" of April 13 we take the following from London:

Dissatisfaction with quotas allotted to Malayan tin producers under restriction scheme is understood to have led C. V. Thomas at annual meeting of Malayan Chamber of Mines, in London, to propose a resolution which was accepted, appointing a committee to make inquiry into the resulting proposition of the tin quotas. Opposition to the proposal was made by J. Howeson. Discontent was believed to have arisen through the lower percentage of restriction allowed the Dutch, whose claim to be cheapest producers was disputed by the most efficient of the British.

Reflecting the operation of the international plan for regulation of tin output, the production of tin ore in the Federated Malay States for the month of March dropped to 4.461 tons, according to official figures received by cable from Malaya. This, it was said, is 1,009 tons less than in February and 989 less than the January output. The reduced March production represents a curtailment of approximately 22% from the average monthly output of 1929.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS—FURTHER CUTS IN PRICES.

The market for crude oil, and also for some of the products of petroleum, became further demoralized notwithstanding that the proration controversy in the new east Texas field was settled by the Texas Railroad Commission, and that a substantial step towards correction of the unfavorable conditions prevailing on the Pacific Coast was taken when the recently organized Producers' Sales Agency adopted recommendations to limit the California allowable to 469,000 barrels daily, a decline of 31,000 barrels from the current figure. Effective April 21 the Humble Oil & Refining Co. posted a schedule of prices in the East Texas fields that conformed with those previously posted by Magnolia Petroleum, the same as currently prevailing in the mid-continent fields, ranging from 40c. a barrel for 26 gravity up to 67 a barrel for 40 degrees and over. At the same time the Company announced reductions of from 5c. to 20c. a barrel in other sections of Texas and New Mexico. The Company explained that these cuts were necessary in order that other fields might compete with the East Texas fields more effectively. The price reduction ranged from 5c. a barrel in the West Texas area to 20c. a barrel in the Pettus field. All major competitors met the cut within the next few days. The output of oil steadily increased, rising from 2,252,100 barrels per day in the week ending April 4 to 2,424,300 barrels in the week ending April 25 and 2,475,000 barrels in the week ending May 2. The price changes of the month, both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products are indicated in the following.

CRUDE OIL.

April 21—Humble Oil & Refining posted a price schedule in the East Texas fields conforming with that previously posted by Magnolia Petroleum, prices being the same as paid in Mid-Continent fields. The list ranges from 40c. a barrel below 26 gravity with a 1c. differential for each degree of gravity up to 29 gravity, which is 45c. a barrel; from 29 to 29.9 gravity the differential is 2c. a barrel per degree of gravity up to 67c. a barrel for 40 degrees and above. At the same time, the company announced the following reductions in other fields. North Texas, 10c. a barrel; Carson and Hutchison counties, 8c.; Gray county, 10c.; West Texas, 5c.; Lea county, N. M., 7½c.; Gulf Coast "A", 10c.; Gulf Coast "B", 19 to 20c.; Refugio heavy, 9c.; Refugio light, 10c. to 20c.; Mirando, 9c.; Salt Flat and Darst Creek, 7½c., and Pettus, 20c. a barrel.

April 23—The Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency to-day posted reductions ranging from 10 to 20c. a barrel for Pennsylvania crude oil. Other companies in the fields promptly met the reduction.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

April 1—The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey posted a cut of 10c. a barrel in the price of Diesel oil in New York Harbor, making new price $1,75 a barrel. Similar cuts were made at the company's terminals along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Standard Oil of New Jersey posted a reduction of 3-10c. a gallon in the tank wagon and service station prices of gasoline in its territory. Other companies met the cut.

April 23—Standard Oil of New Jersey posted a 10c. a barrel cut in the price of grade C bunker oil at New York, Boston, Baltimore and Norfolk, making the price 95c. a barrel. A similar cut was made at Charleston, which made the new price 90c. a barrel.

April 24—Standard Oil of New Jersey posted a 10c. a barrel cut in the price of grade C bunker oil at Baton Rouge, New Orleans and other principal Southern ports.

April 27—A 10c. a barrel cut for Pennsylvania crude was posted to-day by the South Penn Oil Co.

DECLINE IN COAL PRODUCTION AND CAR LOADINGS.

Coal production continued on a low basis, and perhaps that affords the best indication of the absence of trade activity. For the week ending April 4 the production of bituminous coal in the United States was only 7,214,000 tons, as against 8,248,000 tons in the same week of 1930; in the week ending April 11 it was 6,784,000 tons against 8,257,000 tons; in the week ending April 18 6,326,000 tons, against 8,103,000 tons and in the week ending April 25 6,286,000 tons against 8,191,000 tons. And in considering this falling off it must be remembered that in comparing with last year we are comparing with a period that suffered a decrease from the year before. The figures of car loadings furnish testimony to the same effect, the loading of revenue freight for the week ending April 4 having been 728,511 cars in 1931, against 908,059 cars in 1930 and 958,225 cars in 1929; for the week ending April 11 737,934 cars against 911,316 cars and 973,152 cars; for the week ending April 18 760,002 cars, against 892,706 cars and 1,005,880 cars, and for the week ending April 25 759,272 cars, against 906,879 cars and 1,051,885 cars.

THE TEXTILE TRADES.

The textile trades continued to give the best account of themselves, but mainly because production was kept well restricted within the reduced limit of consumption and demand, though even in the case of these trade accounts wore a less favorable aspect than before, due largely to the deepening gloom on the Stock Exchange, but also due to a loss of confidence, arising out of a further decline in raw silk and cotton, greater irregularity in wool and underlying weakness in rayon prices, directly precipitated in the latter case by intensive competition. At the same time buyers showed a disposition to moderate their expectations regarding spring business though the fact remains that the low level of values ruling on both fabrics, and the garments made therefrom, made for a fuller volume of business, both wholesale and retail than would otherwise have been the case. The price of cotton moved steadily lower throughout the month, and middling upland spot cotton at New York was quoted at only 9.75c. April 30 against 10.70c. on March 31, while print cloths at Fall River 64x60 28 in. were marked down April 11 from 4⅛c. to 4c. and on April 21 to 3⅞c. The U. S. Census on April 14 reported the amount of cotton consumed in the United States during March at 490,586 bales of lint and 62,771 bales of linters, compared with 507,646 bales of lint and 64,400 bales of linters in March 1930. The production of cotton cloth in American cotton mills during the month of March amounted to 575,508,000 square yards according to the estimate of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, basing its calculation on the report of spindle hour activity released by the Bureau of the Census. This total compares with 603,699,000 square yards in March 1930. Raw silk prices moved still lower. Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were down to $2.35@$2.40 April 30, against $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930; $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30 and 4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.25@$2.30 April 30 against $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930; $2.25@$2.30 Oct. 31, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. The downward descent of crude rubber remained unchecked, and on April 29 rubber equalled its all-time low price of 5.70c. per lb. on the Rubber Exchange, this price, having first been reached on April 21. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted at 5⅞ bid @ 6c. asked on April 30, or a full cent lower than on March 31, when the price was 6⅞c. bid and 7c. asked; on Feb. 28 the quotation was 7⅝@7¾c.; on Jan. 31 7¾@8c.; on Dec. 31 1930 8⅜@8½c. and on Feb. 28 1930 15¾@15⅞c. Associated Press advices from Akron, Ohio, on April 3 reported that the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. officials had on that day announced a reclassification of wage scales which would result in a pay cut of from 5 to 20% for 13,000 workmen. On April 6 the Associated Press also announced that the B. F. Goodrich Co. had reduced wages at its plant department in line with the cut made by Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. On April 18 the New York "Times" printed an Amsterdam cablegram dated April 17 saying that East Indian rubber producers meeting there on that day had decided to establish a society for the regulation of production. Restriction was opposed by representatives of 27,000 tons, while producers of 3,000 tons voted blank and the opinion of producers of 44,000 tons was unknown. At the utmost, it was estimated, producers of 100 000 tons supported restriction, which was not considered strong in the face of world production of 800,000 tons. However, it was hoped that the Government would succeed in exercising some control in Holland's production and that English producers would perhaps join. Even then the situation would remain precarious.

CANADIAN NEWSPRINT COMPANIES CUT PRICES.

Following a reduction earlier in the week, another slash in the price of newsprint became apparent on April 21, when (we quote from the New York "Journal of Commerce" of April 22) the Canada Power & Paper Corp. informed customers by telegram that effective another week the price of newsprint would be $57 a ton, delivered in New York. A reduction of $5 a ton from the current price of $62, retroactive from Jan. 1 was also announced. The paper from which we quote went on to say:

Publishers, manufacturers and users of newsprint were surprised at the announcement, due to the fact that only three days ago a group of members of the Newsprint Institute of Canada had agreed to a cut of $5 a ton, effective May 1, with a $3 a ton slash retroactive from Jan. 1 to April 30.

J. L. Fearing, Vice-President of the International Paper Co., when questioned regarding the price slashes, stated that there was nothing to say at this time. He added that his company was not stampeded last year into asking higher prices for newsprint when the Canadian group of manufacturers asked higher prices and would not be stampeded at this time.

He added that the company is waiting until the atmosphere clears before making any price announcement.

The Toronto "Globe" of April 20, printed the following (Canadian Press) from Montreal April 19:

The newsprint groups represented by Canada Power & Paper Co., Abitibi, St. Lawrence Corporation and Price Brothers, Ltd., have announced a cut in price of their product of $3 per ton, retroactive to the beginning of 1931, and until May 1. Thereafter the reduction will increase to $5 a ton. The general price has been $55 per ton at the mill, or $62 per ton delivered in New York.

Ernest Rossiter, President of the St. Lawrence Paper Corp., discussing the reduction, said that the cut had been dictated more or less by the situation created in the United States market, where cuts had been put into effect by companies outside the Canadian group.

THE GRAIN MARKETS.

The grain market moved lower, though wheat gave a pretty good account of itself, considering the absence of support from the Farm Board. The May option for wheat of course remained under control of the Farm Board and here the fluctuations were encompassed within a narrow range, the close April 30 at Chicago being 82⅝c. against the opening price April 1 of 84½c. But this option because of Farm Board manipulation ruled 20@25c. higher than the July option; though the difference narrowed as the month progressed. As against 59½c. April 2 the July option in Chicago was quoted at 65¼c. April 18, but from this there was a decline to 59⅜c. April 27 with the close April 30 at 62⅜@62½c. Reports published on April 21 to the effect that the Federal Farm Board was planning to sell abroad the entire Government holdings of wheat, aggregating somewhere between 200,000,000 and 275,000,000 bushels, instead of a total of only 35,000,000 bushels which the Grain Stabilization Corporation had announced on Feb. 26 it would endeavor to sell by July 1, had a weakening effect for the time being, but brought a quick response from James C. Stone, Chairman of the Board, in which he said: "There is no foundation in fact for such reports." European wheat markets were thrown into a state of great nervousness on April 21 as a result of cablegrams carrying the unfounded report referred to. There were some favorable developments regarding wheat during the month, more particularly a reduction in the duty on importations of wheat into Germany and the allowance of a greater percentage of foreign wheat in flour manufacture in France. A reduction of about 50 cents a bushel in the duty on wheat will be decreed by the Cabinet, it was learned on April 28, said a Berlin cablegram on that date to the New York "Times" from which we also quote as follows:

Stocks of domestic wheat and rye have reached a low level, so the Government believes Germany can absorb about 20,000,000 bushels of cheap foreign wheat without endangering the nation's agriculture.

A rigid control over importations under the reduced duty will be exercised, Hamburg and Bremen being designated as the receiving ports because none of the Southeastern European States are believed to be in a position to export wheat.

The present wheat duty of about $1.62 a bushel enabled German agrarians to unload most of their huge rye reserves. The millers and bakers threaten to boost the retail prices of flour and bread in view of the coming wheat shortage.

While the demands of Socialists and trade unions for a lowering of tariffs on foodstuffs are largely responsible for the Government's action, the fact that the United States and Canada are prepared to unload surplus stocks also has influenced the Government's decision to lower the duty in connection with its price-levelling program.

Paris advices April 15 stated that an official French decree had increased to 15% from 5% the maximum foreign wheat allowed flour manufacturers. Price of wheat remained over 180 francs per 100 kilos for both domestic and foreign wheat it was stated. This was the record price for post war years and compared with the average of 147 francs per 100 kilos in 1930 and 29 gold francs in 1914. Price of bread was twice as high in France as in Belgium it was declared.

In Argentina the Bank of the Nation increased to 21 cents the loans granted to Argentine corn farmers. A cablegram from Buenos Aires April 29 to the New York "Times" in announcing this, said:

In an effort to assist corn farmers through the difficult situation created by unusually low prices the Bank of the Nation has decided to lend them 2.5 pesos per hundred kilograms of corn shelled and in sacks ready for exportation. The loan is equivalent to 21 American cents per bushel and is 65% of the present selling price, which is equivalent to 32 American cents per bushel.

Early in March the bank advanced to farmers 1.5 pesos per 100 kilograms, which was equivalent to about 12.5 cents per bushel, but this has proven insufficient.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington on April 9 issued its crop report as of April 1 1931, placing the condition of winter wheat on April 1 at 88.8%, as against 77.4% on April 1 1930 and a ten-year average of 79.2%. This pointed to a probable winter wheat crop in the United States of 643,920,000 bushels comparing with 604,337,000 bushels, the winter wheat yield in 1930, and a five year average, 1925-1929 of 547,427,000 bushels. The course of wheat prices at Winnipeg was much the same as that at Chicago. From 57½c. April 2 July wheat at Winnipeg advanced to 65⅞c. April 20, then fell back to 59½c. April 25, but recovered to 62½c. April 30, the close on that day being 62¼c. and comparing with the opening price of 59⅜c. on April 1. Corn and oats prices moved sharply downward. May corn at Chicago dropped from 63c. April 1 to 54⅞c. on April 30 with the close on this latter day 56½c., against the opening price of 63c. on April 1. The July corn option at Chicago tumbled from 64c. April 1 to 56⅜c. April 28 and closed April 30 at 58⅝c. against the opening price on April 1 of 64c. May oats at Chicago were down to 25¾c. April 27 from 31⅞c., the opening April 1, and closed April 30 at 26¾c. July oats at Chicago closed at 27⅝c. April 30, while the opening April 30 was at 32c.

SUGAR PRICES AND SUGAR RESTRICTIONS.

Sugar prices were held very steady and transactions were apparently under strict control and limited in amount. Cuban raw sugar, which was quoted at 1.33c. at the end of March, with another sale at that figure on April 1 and again on April 7, was (after the absence of sales for two weeks) quoted at 1.30c. April 20. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this market was marked down on April 24 to 4.40c. by all the leading refineries from 4.50c. the price prevailing at the end of March.

The Cuban Senate on April 22 sanctioned the bill creating a Cuban Institute for the stabilization of sugar and the measure was immediately sent to the House. A cablegram from Havana April 22, said:

The institute will be an independent institution, with headquarters in Havana, and will be effective until Dec. 31 1941, unless dissolved by the will of its components, with the President's approval, providing it has discharged its obligations.

The institute is to be composed of seven members, receiving no government salaries. Five must be sugar men, two cane planters chosen by Presiden Machado from among a list of candidates submitted by the National Association of Sugar Mill Owners and the National Association of Cane Planters. The President will be at liberty to remove any and all members at any time and appoint others.

The members are to have unlimited power to represent the Cuban sugar industry in all international sugar conferences and negotiate agreements with foreign producers on production, sales and the amounts which Cuba and other countries will export, all this for a period not to exceed five years.

The institute is empowered to guarantee the fullfillment of international sugar obligations on Cuba's part, order the industry to pay money as penalty for violation of international pacts and grant banking securities for the fullfillment of obligations.

President Machado is empowered to issue the necessary laws compelling the sugar industry to abide by pacts and the orders of the Institute.

A 10-cent duty per pound on all sugar exported in excess of the total limited yearly production is to be established. There will be a $5,000 fine for any producer, American or Cuban, established in the island, violating any rulings of the Institute regarding production and exportation, the fines to go toward maintaining a fund to meet penalties derived from Cuban violation of any clause of international sugar treaties.

All the expenses of the Institute are to be paid by the National Sugar Exporting Corp.

Coffee prices enjoyed a smart recovery. No. 7 Rio in this market was quoted at 6½c.@6¾c. April 30 against5½c. March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31; and 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 8½@8¾ April 30 against 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930 and 11@11¼ Oct. 31 1930.

ADVANCE IN THE PRICE OF CIGARETTES.

An average advance of 5% in the price of cigars and pipe and chewing tobaccos by the Schulte Retail Stores Corp. and the United Cigars Stores Co., described as the first step in correcting a "demoralized" industry caused by cut rates, became effective April 3 in the Schulte stores and April 4 in the United chain. An early increase in the popular brands of cigarettes is contemplated by the retailers. David A. Schulte, President of the chain bearing his name, described the increase as a modification of cut rates, some of which have been in effect for two years, and have forced many independent dealers out of business because of the small margin of profit. The Schulte organization, he said, would follow any constructive move on the part of independent dealers to stabilize prices. He said he thought the public was willing to give dealers a legitimate profit. The New York "Times" in making these announcements commented on them in its issue of April 8 as follows:

The cigarette price war which began two years ago will be concluded on Friday April 10 when the United Cigar Stores and the Schulte retail stores chains will advance the price of popular brands of cigarettes to 15 cents a package; or two packages for 27 cents. The current price is 13 cents a package, or two packages for 25 cents.

Officials of both companies said yesterday they believed the end of unprofitable retailing in the tobacco industry had been reached and asserted the new price would yield tobacconists a profit of 25% on individual packages and from 7 to 8% on the sale of two packages.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—THE POLITICAL UPHEAVAL IN SPAIN—KING ALFONSO DEPOSED.

By far the most important single incident in foreign affairs was the overturn of the monarchy in Spain on April 14 and the establishment of a republican regime under Provisional President Niceto Alcala Zamora. Although no formal abdication took place, King Alfonso and his family were forced to leave the country. As is always the case in such occurrences, much is expected of the new Government by the people of Spain, and it is an open question whether the power and influence of the provisional Government will prevail for any long period. Observers believe that the genuine test of the Government will come some months from now, possibly after the promised Constitutional Asembly has finished its labors. It appears, however, that the form of the Spanish Government will in any event have been materially modified by the developments, with the great likelihood that the democratic principle, as opposed to that of monarchy or dictatorship, will have gained another important adherent in western Europe.

The end of the monarchy was not unexpected, as ominous rumblings of discontent had long been heard in Spain, with recent abortive attempts at revolution reflecting an acute situation. The actual overturn was, nevertheless, highly dramatic, since it meant the termination of a monarchial rule that had prevailed for 15 centuries with only a brief intermission some 60 years ago. King Alfonso yielded his throne April 14 after two confused and trying days that followed the municipal elections of April 12, in which sweeping victories were won by republican candidates. The King fled the country as a deposed monarch, refusing to accede to the demand of the republicans for his formal abdication. Alfonso, who is the last of the Bourbon rulers, left Spain aboard a Spanish cruiser at Cartagena, whence he proceeded to Marseilles and later to Paris. Other members of the royal family went direct to Paris over the northern frontier.

The municipal elections were the first elections of any kind held in Spain for eight years, and they revealed an overwhelmingly republican trend in all the major cities and towns, while even in the conservative rural districts important gains were made. In the eight years of military rule under Primo de Rivera, Damaso Berenguer and Admiral Aznar the need for popular expression at the polls kept growing. Elections were promised by General Primo de Rivera several years ago, but they were called off. The postponement led to the downfall of the Rivera Government. General Berenguer also promised elections and he also fell when they were put off following revolts last December by army and aerial units. Admiral Aznar, who followed, arranged a series of elections by the municipalities and the provinces, of which the first was finally held April 12 with such disastrous results to the monarchy. The returns were so strongly anti-royalist that a Government crisis appeared inevitable. The election results and the sense of impending change produced intense excitement in the days that followed, not only in Madrid, but also in Barcelona, Seville and other large centers. It was disclosed April 13 that the Aznar Cabinet would resign and that formation of a new Government would be entrusted to Juan de la Cierva, Minister of Public Works in the Aznar Cabinet and a staunch monarchist.

Such plans were swept aside by the powerful thrust toward republicanism, which became irresistible Tuesday, April 14. In Madrid the leaders of the republican faction took over the Government after frantic demonstrations by the people. Late in the evening it was made known that Alfonso had yielded and departed for Cartagena in an automobile, accompanied by his Majordomo, the Duke of Miranda. Similar demonstrations were taking place at the same time throughout the populous centers of Spain. Town after town declared themselves republican, reports said. Catalonian Separatist leaders hastily proclaimed a Catalan republic in Barcelona, while similar trends were noted in San Sebastian and in the Basque province. Late in the day Niceto Alcala Zamora, head of the group, stepped to the microphone in the Ministry of the Interior and announced to the nation that the republic was triumphant.

Public excitement reached a high pitch Wednesday, April 15, when a manifesto was published in which the new regime pledged elections, religious freedom, equal justice for all, respect for property rights, and a new economic dispensation by means of expropriation of the great landed estates. It was indicated that the new Government would submit the individual and collective acts of its Ministers to the sanction of a Constitutional Convention, as the supreme organ of the national will. A decree issued later in the day promised a complete reorganization of the legal system and an investigation into the Moroccan disaster of 1921, in which 10,000 Spanish soldiers perished while fighting Riff tribesmen. King Alfonso, on reaching Paris, issued a statement denying that he had abdicated, and saying that he would wait to "hear the real expression of the collective opinion of my people". Spanish Ambassadors in the leading world capitals promptly resigned. A new and completely republican Cabinet was promptly announced under the leadership of Senor Alcala Zamora. One of the first steps taken by the Cabinet was to reconsider the international credit of $60.000,000 granted the Bank of Spain for currency stabilization purposes late in March by banking groups in the United States and France. Finance Minister Prieto expressed the belief that the funds would not be needed to protect the peseta. A formal decision to rescind the credit was announced April 18. It is understood that no portion of the credit had been used.

THE APRIL FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The new financing of the United States Treasury during April was on an extensive scale, notwithstanding the unusual magnitude of the customary quarterly financing during March. Ordinarily there is an interval of a lull in the Government appeals to the money and investment markets following the quarterly period of Government financing in March, June, September, and December, which quarterly periods are concurrent with the quarterly payments due on the Federal income tax levies, corporate and individual. The present year in April no such lull was possible because (1) the income tax payments, based on the incomes and profits of the calendar year 1930, showed a heavy shrinkage owing to the business depression and decline in security and commodity value, which marked the course the whole of that year; (2) the falling off in Government revenues generally for the same reasons, and (3) the extraordinary demands upon the United States Treasury growing out of the loans authorized by Congress on the adjusted service certificates of the war veterans. As a result of all this, Treasury ingoes fell far short of the Treasury outgoes, and consequently Treasury cash had to be replenished again and again. The April financing of the Government, arising out of this state of things, comprised a large offering of United States certificates of indebtedness and the floating of two issues of Treasury bills sold on a discount basis. These latter were in addition to the sale of $100,855,000 of Treasury bills made at the close of March, but payment for which was not required until April 2-3. As a matter of fact, the last one of the two offerings of Treasury bills which came in April did not require payment until May 5, so that the proceeds of this sale did not accrue to the benefit of the Treasury until the following month, just as the proceeds of the Treasury bills disposed of at the end of March did not count as an addition to Treasury cash until April.

Notice that a sale of United States certificates of indebtedness was forthcoming was given Mar. 31, though the nature of the coming issue was not divulged beforehand, the notice simply saying that a Treasury offering might be expected "on or about Tuesday, April 7." Promptly on April 7 the nature and terms of the proposed Treasury offering appeared. It took the form of an eight months' issue of Treasury certificates of indebtedness for $275,000,000, "or thereabouts", dated April 15 1931, and becoming due Dec. 15 1931. The rate of interest was fixed at 1⅞% per annum. In choosing this as the rate the Secretary of the Treasury cleverly availed, it would seem, of the results of experience, and made adjustment with great nicety to prevailing conditions in the short-term investment market. As part of his mid-March financing, Mr. Mellon, it will be recalled, had offered $300.000,000 of certificates of indebtedness running for six months and bearing only 1½% interest per annum, the lowest rate ever named in any offering of certificates, and at the same time had offered another series of certificates in amount of $600.000,000 running a full year and bearing 2% interest per annum. For the $300,000,000 1½% six months' certificates the subscriptions, however, reached only $400,648,500, while for the $600,000,000 2% one-year certificates the application aggregated $1,223.084,500. In naming 1⅞% as the rate in this new offering for $275,000,000, and giving the certificates a maturity of eight months, the Secretary had resort to an intermediate arrangement both in the period that the certificates had to run, making this eight months as against six months and 12 months in the two-fold offering in March, and in the interest rate named, which at 1⅞% compared with the 1½% and the 2% rates, respectively, for the six months' and the 12 months', in the March offering. And Mr. Mellon's judgment was again vindicated. The certificates, the same as all previous recent issues, were exempt from the surtaxes as well as the normal Federal income taxes. Payments for the certificates had to be made on April 15. Subscription books were opened on April 8 and were closed the next day (April 9), though it was announced that subscriptions received through the mails up to 10 a. m. Friday, April 10, would be considered as having been received before the close of the subscription books. The applications altogether aggregated $908,688,000, and against the subscriptions allotments were made aggregating $275,118.000. Subscriptions in amounts not exceeding $1,000 for any one subscriber were allotted in full. Subscriptions for larger amounts were allotted on a graduated basis, the ratio of allotment diminishing with the size of the subscription.

As to the offerings of Treasury bills bearing no interest but sold on a discount basis to the highest bidder, there were two of these, as noted above, independent of the two series for a combined total of $100,000,000 for which tenders were received up to and including Mar. 30 1931, but payment for which was not required until April 2-3, the results of which were reported in our review of Treasury financing for the month of March. On April 20 Mr. Mellon announced the first of the April offering of Treasury bills. This was for amount of $50,000,000, and the customary success attended the floating of the issue. They were 91-day bills, dated April 27 1931 and maturing July 27 1931. Payment for the bills had to be made on April 27. Tenders were invited up to Friday, April 24, and the applications totaled $343,739,000. The amount awarded was $53,510,000 and the average price realized was 99.664, being at an average rate of about 1.33%. Except for one bid for $10.000 at the rate of about 1%, the highest bid made was 99.674, equivalent to an interest rate of about 1.29% on an annual basis. The lowest bid accepted was 99.653, equivalent to an interest rate of about 1⅜% on an annual basis. On April 27 there came announcement of the second offering of Treasury bills, this time for $60,000,000, "or thereabouts." They were 90-day bills, dated May 5 1931 and maturing Aug. 3 1931. Payment had to be made on May 5. Tenders were received up till 2'o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard time, on May 1 1931. The applications for these bills reached $305,855,000, and the amount allotted was $60,-100,000, the price realized by the Government averaging 99.676, this being an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 1.29%. The highest bid received was 99.688, equivalent to an interest rate of 1.25%, and the lowest bid accepted was 99.671, representing an annual rate of 1.32%. The average price realized at both the bill sales during April—1.33% in the case of the first sale, and 1.29% in the second instance—was somewhat better than the result to the Treasury at the sale of 90-day bills at the close of March, when $100,855,000 of 90-day bills, dated April 2 and April 3, were disposed of at an average rate of 1.46%. At the placing, however, of $154,218,000 91-day bills, dated Feb. 16, the rate was only 1.21%, while the sale of $60,-000,000 90-day bills on Jan. 30, dated February 3, was effected at the extraordinarily low rate of 0.95%.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING APRIL 1931.

The stock market during April fell into a state of renewed collapse, which was in continuation of the downward movement inaugurated in March. The collapse was one of the severest experienced in Stock Exchange history, closely paralleling that of the previous December, many stocks, indeed, dropping lower than on that occasion, and in the magnitude of the losses sustained standing second only to the unparalleled break which occurred in October-November 1929, which latter marks the date since which security values have been falling into a state of absolute chaos, with apparently never-ending declines. During the month under review such was the extent of the further declines that in hosts of instances the low points recorded during the panic of the autumn of 1929 and the breakdown in December 1930, and which were generally supposed to indicate depths of depression which would never again be reached, were left far behind. The market was almost continuously depressed, day after day, all through the month, with only occasional days of rally and upward reaction. Selling pressure was all the time in evidence, while buying orders were extremely limited. Keen disappointment was felt because of the lack of any indications of the recovery in trade and business which had been so confidently looked for with the adjournment of Congress early the previous month. The railroad stocks were especially weak—the early part of the month because of the receipt of further income returns for February and the latter part of the receipt of income statements for March and the first quarter of the year—all making an exceedingly poor showing. The industrial stocks suffered in the same way, the further reports received for the calendar year 1930 proving eye-openers as to the extent of the shrinkage in income and profits sustained, while the returns for the March quarter as they came to hand in a steady stream, day after day, proving even worse. Furthermore, as the natural sequence of these poor income returns, especially those for the March quarter, dividend reductions and omissions again became the order of the day in repetition of the experience of preceding months, the whole constituting a budget of bad news which had a telling effect in sweeping prices down into what seemed to be a bottomless pit, one day's huge drop in prices simply affording a basis for still further declines on succeeding days. In the case of the 25 railroad stocks which form the basis of the averages kept by the New York "Times", there was a decline from a high point of 80.55 on April 6 to 69.68 on April 28, with the close April 30 at 72.95, a sharp upturn having occurred on the last day of the month, after heavy further losses in the early part of that day. In the case of the 25 industrial stocks, there was a drop from 231.09 on April 6 to 195.83 April 30, with the closing price on this latter day (as a result of the rally just mentioned late on that day) of 208.10. In the case of the combined averages for the whole 50 stocks, which had closed Mar. 31 at 154.52 and had reached 155.82 April 6 as the high for the month, there was a drop to 133.15 on April 29, with the close April 30 at 140.52. The low for the 25 railroad stocks at 69.68 on April 28 was the lowest since 1924, while the low for the 25 industrial stocks at 195.83 was the lowest since 1927, and the combined low of 133.15 on April 29 for the 50 stocks taken together was the lowest since 1926. The net decline for the combined averages during the month was $14 per share, and was the widest of any month, the "Times" says, since October 1930.

The market was at its worst the last 10 days of the month; then there came failures of some important Stock Exchange houses to add to the general gloom and to increase the feeling of despondency. On Friday, April 24, the failure of Pynchon & Co., one of the largest brokerage and commission houses in the city, was announced from the rostrum of the Stock Exchange in the closing hour, and was followed by a renewed break in Fox Film and General Treatre, stocks of properties sponsored by the firm, which had been depressed all of that week. The announcement of the failure of the firm, however, came too late in the day for the full adverse effects of the event to be felt on that day, and at the half-day session on Saturday, April 25, extensive further liquidation occurred in all the securities with which Pynchon & Co. had been identified. On Monday, April 27, some rallying tendencies were in evidence in the early trading, due largely to the clearing up of the relations of Cyrus S. Eaton, the Cleveland capitalist, and the New York Stock Exchange firm of Otis & Co., to Continental Shares, Inc., with an outline of the changes which had been made in such relations to promote general confidence, but the news of the suspension of West & Co., a New York Stock Exchange house with headquarters in Philadelphia, gave the market a sharp downward turn again, and led to new selling pressure all around. A somewhat firmer tone developed on Tuesday, April 28, although selling pressure was only slightly relieved. On Wednesday, April 29, the market broke wide open, owing to the poor quarterly statement submitted by the U. S. Steel Corp., and made public after the close of business the day before. This statement showed only 5c. a share earned on the common stock of the Steel Corp. against $1.75 a share required to pay the quarterly dividend at the rate of 7% per annum. Though the full dividend was declared at the old rate, the deficiency being made good out of accumulated surplus, the adverse showing made acted with telling effect on the price of the stock. Steel common, which had closed Tuesday at 124⅜, opened Wednesday morning at 121½, and then dropped to 115, with the close at 115¼, showing a net drop for the day of 9⅛. This tremendous break carried the whole market down, and enormous declines resulted all through the list, the demoralization being worse than at any time since the break the previous December. On Thursday, April 30, after further severe declines at the opening, a recovery occurred, hardly less pronounced than the previous violent decline, as a result of which the greater part of the losses of the two days was regained, U. S. Steel closing at 120 as against 115¼ at the close on Wednesday, April 29. It deserves to be noted, however, that this recovery in Steel was not maintained the next day (May 1), when the shares dropped to 113½ and a few days later in May dropped still lower. The Bethlehem Steel return for the March quarter, submitted after the close of business on April 30, was of the same unfavorable character as that of the U. S. Steel Corp., showing only 6c. earned on the stock, and the dividend being reduced from a basis of $6 per annum to $4. Several further dividend reductions in that week, among them the Illinois Central, where the rate was cut from a basis of 7% per annum to 4%, accelerated the downward pace. Altogether, 599 stocks dropped to new low levels for the year during the month, while only 108 stocks recorded new highs for the year. Call loans on the Stock Exchange ruled at 1½% nearly all through the month.

The volume of trading increased the latter part of the month, though never being of exceptional proportions, and beginning with April 23, when the sales were 3,815,560 shares, several times ran in excess of 3,000,000 shares a day. For the month as a whole the sales aggregated 54,346,836 shares as against 65,658,087 shares in March, but comparing with 111,041,000 shares in April 1930, when prices tumbled so severely with the collapse of the spring rise of that year. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the month were 11,526,810 shares as against 14,089,000 shares in March, but comparing with 32,331,400 shares in April 1930.

In the general break the high-priced shares suffered more severely than any others, and the steel shares as a group were perhaps the weakest of the whole list. U. S. Steel, as stated further above, dropped from 140¼ April 6, which was also the opening price April 1, to 115 April 29, and in the sharp rally on April 30 recovered to 120 at the close of that day, only to drop still lower the next day (May 1), then touching 113½. Bethlehem Steel, from 59¼ April 6, fell to 39¼ April 30, and recovered to 43⅜ at the close on that day. Vanadium Corp. of America fell from 66⅝ April 1 to 37⅝ April 29, and closed April 30 at 42¼. Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 143½ April 1 to 116¼ April 29, and closed April 30 at 124½. J. I. Case & Co. fell from 104⅞ April 1 to 74 April 29, and closed April 30 at 83¾. E. I. du Pont de Nemours tumbled from 97⅜ April 6 to 77⅜ April 29, and closed April 30 at 83. International Harvester, from 52¾ April 14, fell to 46⅛ April 29, and closed April 30 at 49½. American Tel. & Tel. dropped from 190½ April 6 to 176⅛ April 30. The tobacco stocks were an exception to the rule of decline on account of an advance in the price of cigarettes, and American Tobacco rose from 113½ April 1 to 128¾ April 14, with the close April 30 at 123. Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing tumbled from 87⅜ April 4 to 57¼ April 29, with the close April 30 at 63. Texas Gulf Sulphur declined from 50 April 2 to 38½ April 29, and closed April 30 at 40⅝. The copper stocks were no exceptions to the general break, though these had all suffered heavy previous losses, and Anaconda Copper declined from 35 April 14 to 27⅜ April 29, with the close April 30 at 30½. American Smelting & Refining declined from 48⅞ April 14 to 38⅞ April 30, recovering at the close of the latter day to 40½. The motor stocks shared in the general weakness, and General Motors fell from 45½ April 14 to 37½ April 29, but closed April 30 at 41. Auburn Auto went through the usual wide gyrations; after rising from 227½ April 1 to 295½ April 14, it dropped to 180 April 20, and closed April 30 at 213. Public utility stocks also fell off sharply. American Water Works & Electric dropped from 66¾ April 14 to 52¼ April 30, closing on the last-mentioned day at 56⅞; Standard Gas & Electric declined from 79 April 14 to 65½ April 29, and closed April 30 at 70; American & Foreign Power, from 42⅝ April 14 to 28½ April 29, with the close April 30 at 33⅛, and North American from 79⅝ April 14 to 64 April 29, with the close April 30 at 69. Fox Film "A" fell from 34 April 6 to 16¼ April 25, and closed April 30 at 20⅛; General Theatre Equipment, from 12½ April 1 to 3⅜ April 27, with the close April 30 at 5; Paramount Publix from 44¼ April 9 to 28 April 20, with the close at 30⅞, and Warner Bros. Pictures from 12⅞ April 14 to 7⅛ April 29, with the close April 30 at 8⅛. Consolidated Gas declined from 102⅞ April 14 to 89¼ April 29, and closed April 30 at 94¼; Gen. Electric moved down from 48⅝ April 1 to 40⅝ April 27, and closed April 30 at 43⅞; International Tel. & Tel., from 36 April 14 to 24⅛ April 29, with the close April 30 at 26¾; Radio Corp. of America from 23⅜ April 14 to 14⅜ April 30, with the close at 16¾; Standard Oil of New Jersey from 44½ April 9 to 33½ April 27, with the close April 30 at 37⅜, and Texas Corp. from 29⅛ April 9 to 20 April 27, with the close April 30 at 22¾; Transamerica Corp. from 14 April 1 to 7¼ April 28; Union Carbide & Carbon from 64⅞ April 6 to 47⅜ April 29, with the close April 30 at 54½, and Worthington from 86 April 1 to 56¼ April 30, with the close April 30 at 63¾.

The record of the railroad stocks is equally noteworthy. New York Central went below par, dropping from 109⅛ April 6 to 95 April 27, with the close April 30 at 99¼. Atchison dropped from 184 April 6 to 164⅛ April 23, and closed April 30 at 174. St. Louis-San Francisco from 37½ April 1 to 19 April 29, with the close April 30 at 21½; Southern Pacific from 97 April 6 to 82¼ April 27, with the close April 30 at 89¾; Union Pacific from 185 April 1 to 160⅛ April 23, with the close April 30 at 170⅛; Reading from (par $50) 75 April 1 to 60⅜ April 27, with the close April 30 at 64 bid; Norfolk & Western from 197½ April 2 to 175⅛ April 28, with the close April 30 at 180; Louisville & Nashville from 95 April 6 to 76½ April 29, with the close April 30 at 78, &c.

The bond market also suffered a further setback, with heavy declines on many issues, particularly those of railroads in the Southwest like St. Louis-San Francisco and Southern Pacific, and likewise some Northwestern issues like Chic. Milw. St. Paul. Pacific and Chic. & North Western. Among the foreign issues, the South American government issues suffered severe declines, many of them on new outcroppings of political disturbances; in the case of the Argentine issues announcement that the Government had withdrawn its support from Argentine exchange operated in the same direction. The Australian issues were weak on the announcement of a new default by the New South Wales Government, this time including also interest due on issues held in the United States, with the Commonwealth of Australia, however, again acting to meet the interest. In the following we show the fluctuations during April for a number of domestic and foreign bonds to illustrate the general trend of the bond market:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING APRIL 1931.

There was during April no abatement of the extreme ease in the money market, and, outside some very minor upward spurts in the call loan branch of the market, the changes in rates during the month were of no great consequence. There were, it is true, two reductions in the open market rates for bankers' acceptances, but these were due entirely to the action of the Federal Reserve banks in lowering their buying rate for acceptances, a step which led naturally to lower rates for acceptances in the open market. The trifling spurts in the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange grew entirely out of the action of the United States Treasury in withdrawing Government deposits from the depositary banks. But in the great plethora of loanable funds, these slight spurts in the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange were never more than of temporary duration. The prevailing rate for call loans on the Stock Exchange all through the month was 1½%, as in previous months, and there was never any deviation from this figure except when heavy Government withdrawals necessitated adjustments in the ordinary loans of the banks.

Reference was made in our review of the money market for March to the part played by Treasury operations in affecting the call loan branch of the market—causing a drop in the rate when a large line of Government deposits (against which no reserves are required) was suddenly created as a result of a huge new issue of United States certificates and leading to occasional slight rise in the call loan rate when large amounts of these Government deposits were withdrawn by the United States Treasury—and no review of the money market in April would be complete without taking into account the part played by changes in the volume of these Government deposits during April. On Wednesday, April 1, and Tuesday, April 2, all loans on the Stock Exchange, including renewals, were at 1½%. Friday, April 3, was Good Friday, when the Stock Exchange was closed. On Saturday, April 4, there were no quotations for money, since no loaning is ever done on the Exchange at the half-day sessions on Saturday. The following Monday, April 6, after renewals had again been effected at 1½%, some new loans were made at 2%, and a few were put through at 2½%. The next day, after renewals had been made at 2%, the rate for new loans quickly dropped back to 1½%. But the banks had been obliged to repay $30,883,100 of Government deposits on April 6, and the same amount on April 7, making $61,766,200 for the two days, of which $23,569,400 represented withdrawals from the banks in the New York Federal Reserve District. After April 7 the Stock Exchange call loan rate never deviated from 1½% except that on Thursday, April 16, after renewals had again been put through at 1½%, there was an advance to 2% in the rate for new loans. But this rise did not extend beyand that day, and the rest of the month all loaning on the Exchange was at 1½%. As bearing upon this temporary slight spurt upward it should not escape notice that on April 16 the depositary banks in the whole country were called upon to repay $46,331,900 of their Government deposits, and on April 17 were required to repay the same amount, making $92,663,800 for the two days combined, of which $35,367,200 represented repayments in the New York Federal Reserve District. This, moreover, was after repayments on April 13, 14 and 15, in the same week, of $102,298,000, of which $39,040,300 represented repayments in the New York Federal Reserve District.

It should be recalled that as a result of the sale of the two series of certificates of indebtedness in March, for which the allotments reached $924,067,500, Government deposits aggregating no less than $712,510,000 were created through the Treasury policy of allowing the greater part of the proceeds of the sales of certificates to remain on deposit with the depositary banks until needed by the Government. Of the $712,510,000 deposits, $271,887,500 accrued to the banks in the New York Federal Reserve District. Almost immediately, however, the Treasury began to make withdrawals, and by the end of March the amount of these Government deposits had been reduced to $475,124,700, of which $181,303,700 remained with the depositary banks in the New York Federal Reserve District. During April the amounts were heavily and rapidly reduced, and at the end of April only $17,328,200 of these Government deposits remained with the depositary banks throughout the country, of which $6,609,400 was held in the New York district, and repayment of this balance was required on May 1, in accordance with notice previously given.

In the meantime, however, a new line of Government deposits was created as a result of the sale of the new block of eight months' certificates bearing 1⅞% interest and dated April 15 1931, and falling due Dec. 15 1931. The allotments on the subscriptions for this new block of certificates aggregated $275,118,000. These subscriptions, payment for which had to be made on April 15, evidently came almost entirely through the depositary banks, since Government deposits growing out of the sale reached $258,633,000, of which $76,213,800 accrued in the New York Federal Reserve District, and 25% of which was called for repayment on May 4, in a notice from the Treasury Department on April 30.

It has been stated above that with the unimportant exceptions noted the prevailing call loan rate on the Stock Exchange all through the month was 1½%. Outside the Stock Exchange concessions from the Exchange rate were most of the time obtainable, at least during the latter half of the month, the outside rate usually being 1¼%, and on one occasion as low at 1%. The time loan branch of the market was quiescent, the same as in the months immediately preceding, there being virtually no demand for this class of accommodation because of the extremely low rates prevailing in other divisions of the money market. Rates for time loans underwent no change throughout the month, as will appear from the following table:

The demand for prime commercial paper continued good, but a dearth of high-class names held transactions down to a minimum. Rates for choice names of four to six months' maturity were quoted throughout the month at 2¼@2½%, while for names less well-known the range was 2¾@3%. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its review for the month, after stating that the investment demand for paper was in excess of the amount of paper drawn by commercial and industrial concerns, took occasion to note that "recently it has been reported that the banks are exercising an unusual degree of care in the selection of paper." The Reserve Bank also observed that "the amount of open market paper outstanding at the end of March (the figures are always in arrears because of the time required to collect them) at $311,000,000 was slightly more than 1% smaller than a month earlier, and 41% below the figure of a year ago." It is also added that "the amount of paper outstanding has been declining since April 1930, and has shown no seasonal rise this year."

The market for bankers' acceptances furnished the noteworthy features of the month. Two reductions in rates, of ⅛% each, were made in both the bid and the asked prices for all maturities, the first on April 22 and the second on Monday, April 27, and both evidently grew out of the action of the Federal Reserve Banks in lowering their buying rate for acceptances. Early in the month, that is, on April 9, the New York Federal Reserve Bank marked down its buying rate for bills running from 46 to 90 days, but this was looked upon in the nature of an adjustment, with the view to bringing these rates in closer accord with the buying rates for the shorter maturities. Rates for the bills having a maturity of 46 to 90 days were then reduced from 1⅝% to 1½%, bringing them to the same basis as the 1½% buying rate maintained for bills running from one to 45 days. In other words, the 1½% buying rate now applied on all bills with a maturity of one to 90 days. Buying rates for the longer maturities remained unchanged at 1⅝% for bills running from 91 days to 120 days, and 2% for bills running from 121 to 180 days.

The significant reductions in the buying rate came after this, in the last 10 days of the month. On April 22 the buying rate for acceptances on bills running from one to 45 days was marked down from 1½% to 1⅜%, and this was followed on Monday, April 27, by a further reduction in the buying rate on bills running from one to 45 days from 1⅜% to 1¼%, and a lowering to 1⅜% of the buying rate for bills running from 46 to 120 days, representing a reduction of ⅛% on maturities up to 90 days and of ¼% on 91- to 120-day maturities. The buying rate for bills having a maturity from 121 to 180 days was left unchanged at 2%. The reductions in these buying rates made on April 22 and on April 27 were concurrent with news in cable dispatches reporting large engagements of gold in Paris for shipment to New York and were made, it is understood, with the purpose of checking any further movement of the metal to the United States. This was on the theory of making the New York market less attractive for short-term funds than on the other side of the Atlantic. Open market rates for acceptances naturally were marked down to correspond with the action of the Reserve Bank, for obviously if sales of the bills could not be effected in the market, the bills could always be disposed of to the Reserve institutions. The new buying rates were, of course, the lowest in Federal Reserve history, and the reductions in open market rates brought these rates back to the same levels as prevailed temporarily in the early part of February—levels never previously attained in the history of the bill market in this country.

It remains to say that the American Acceptance Council, in its monthly statement, made available April 20, and covering the period up to the end of March, placed the total volume of acceptances outstanding at $1,466,736,503, or only $72,549,295 less than the volume outstanding on Mar. 31 1930 and $261,000,000 higher than on the corresponding date in 1929. It was pointed out that for the first three months of 1931 the acceptance volume had declined only 90 million dollars, against a drop of $193,000,000 during the first quarter of 1930. At the end of March the group of accepting banks and other institutions which make reports to the American Acceptance Council held in their own portfolios $77,000,000 less acceptances than a month earlier, but their holdings remained large, standing at $472,000,000.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

Brokers' loans by the reporting member banks in New York City showed further contraction, after the decrease the last two weeks of March, when the total of these loans fell from $1,913,000,000 Mar. 18 to $1,875,000,000 April 1. During April there was first a reduction from $1,875,000,000 April 1 to $1,822,000,000 April 8, then an increase to $1,849,000,000 April 15, but followed by a further decline, first to $1,844,000,000 April 22, and then to $1,730,000,000 April 29. Loans for own account were down to $1,268,000,000 April 29, from $1,391,000,000 April 1; loans for account of out-of town banks were down to $243,000,000 from $258,000,000, and loans "for account of others" to $219,000,000 from $226,000,000.

The New York Stock Exchange, in its monthly compilation, also showed a heavy reduction in borrowing by the members of the Exchange. At the end of April the total of this borrowing was found to be only $1,651,128,124 against $1,908,810,494 on Mar. 31, $1,839,756,058 Feb. 28, and $1,720,345,318 at the close of business on Jan. 31, prior to which long continued contraction had been the rule, extending back for many months. As a matter of fact, at $1,651,128,124 the amount was less than at any time since the Stock Exchange began compiling the figures at the beginning of 1926.

The volume of Federal Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks, followed an irregular course during April. In the first half of the month there was a reduction in the total from $928,615,000 April 1 to $862,118,000 April 15, from which, however, there was an increase first to $885,390,000 April 22, and then to $923,572,000 April 29. These changes run closely parallel to the changes in the holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market, and also to the changes in the discount holdings, representing direct borrowing by the member banks. These latter declined from $163,630,000 April 1 to $132,004,000 April 15, and then rose to $155,151,000 April 29. The holdings of acceptances, after having risen from $166,622,000 April 1 to $171,729,000 April 8, fell to $131,479,000 April 15, and then moved up to $169,765,000 April 29. The recovery in the amount of the acceptance holdings during the last two weeks of the month was induced unquestionably by the action of the Federal Reserve Banks in lowering their buying rates for acceptances as narrated in our remarks above with reference to the course of acceptances in market during the month. The lowering of this buying rate was understood to be with the view to preventing a further flow of gold from France to the United States, but it also had the effect of increasing the earning assets of the Reserve Banks in acquiring a larger volume of bills, and perhaps that was also a consideration that induced the action, if not the primary consideration. The holdings of United States Government securities by the 12 Reserve Banks remained quite stationary at close to $600,000,000 the entire month. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation steadily increased from week to week, and, in fact, the increase has been in progress since Mar. 25, when the total was $1,441,715,000, with the amount now for April 29 $1,527,740,000. Gold reserves meanwhile also increased, and were $3,174,709,000 April 29 against $3,112,202,000 April 1. With reference to the changes in the holdings of acceptances and the underlying influences controlling the same, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in its "Monthly Review", commented as follows:

"During the first week of April, slightly firmer money conditions caused the New York banks to dispose of some of their bill holdings and to call a substantial amount of their loans to dealers against acceptances. This situation resulted in a further increase in dealers' portfolios, and in the bill holdings of the Federal Reserve System, reflecting the purchase of bills from dealers under repurchase agreement. Subsequently as the reserve position of the banks improved they began to lend more freely to the bill dealers, and investment demand also became more active; consequently, by the middle of the month considerable reductions occurred in dealers' portfolios and in Federal Reserve bill holdings. Again, shortly after the 15th, there was a period when withdrawals of funds from the New York banks caused renewed firmness in money conditions, and again the bill holdings of the System rose, due chiefly to purchase of bills from dealers under repurchase agreement. By the 22nd, the banks' reserves had been raised to such an extent by an inflow of funds from other centers that easier money prevailed; bills previously sold to the Reserve Bank under repurchase agreement were taken up by the dealers, and considerable improvement in the investment demand was reflected in a decline in dealers' portfolios. Following this, the supply of and demand for bills continued approximately in balance until the closing days of the month, when slightly firmer conditions developed, and the discount market again had recourse to the Reserve Bank by selling bills under repurchase agreement."

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING APRIL.

The features of sterling exchange during April were the growing firmness of rates on London and the success which the Bank of England had in reinforcing its holdings of gold. The weekly statement of the bank showed additions to the bank's stock of the metal in all but one of the weeks, an increase of £1,636,181 being reported in the week ending April 8, succeeded by a loss of £820,974 in the week ending April 15, but followed by a gain of £537,320 and of £487,672, respectively, in the weeks ending April 22 and April 29. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in speaking of the gold movements into and out of the bank, figures that the bank increased its gold holdings during April by $13,100,000. Gains through the purchase of $17,300,000 of gold in the open market and the reported receipt in sovereigns of $4,900,000 from South Africa, $3,400,000 from Australia, and $2,400,000 from Brazil, it is stated, were offset in part by gold "set aside" at the Bank of England amounting to $20,400,000. Gold also continued to be shipped from Russia to Germany during April, it is remarked, to the amount of $5,100,000. In the early part of April all the foreign exchanges were under the influence of the political upheaval in Spain, which resulted in the deposing of King Alfonso and caused a slump in the Spanish peseta. The latter part of the month, however, strengthening influences again dominated, and sterling advanced to the highest figures reached in many months. Sales of cable transfers on London were made as high as 4.86½ on April 28, though the rate April 30 was slightly lower at 4.86 7/16, which compares with a low for the month of 4.85 13/16 recorded on many days between April 6 and April 18, and with 4.85⅞@4.86 on April 1.

Sterling also continued exceptionally firm with respect to French francs, the London check rate on Paris the latter part of the month being quoted at 124.44 francs to the pound, just under the gold export point to London, which is estimated here at about 124.45, although London places the point somewhat higher. Aside from this factor, however, two important events are believed to have contributed to the firmness of exchange in the closing days of April. One was the further reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's buying rate for acceptances and the other the budget speech of Chancellor Philip Snowden. As a result of this lowering of the buying rate for bank acceptances, open market rates for 90-day acceptances here were quoted at 1⅜% bid and 1¼% asked. On the other hand, open market discounts in London for 3 months' bills were held firmly at 2 9/16% at the instance and insistence of the Bank of England. There was really an important margin in favor of London in the matter of the bill yield even before the further lowering of the buying rate for acceptances, but this cut in the buying rate served further to widen the margin in favor of London. As it happened, about the same time there came an unexpected announcement in the budget speech of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Philip Snowden. In order to balance the budget he proposed to recall home £20,000,000 out of £33,000,000 of British funds held on this side which he stated was no longer needed here. News of these large balances in this country came very much as a surprise, and their precise nature was not understood, but the immediate effect on the exchange market of the announcement was beneficial, and along with the reduction of the buying rate for acceptances by our Reserve Banks it acted to stiffen the sterling rate, and the belief here was that as a result of all these happenings the gold movement out of Paris would be deflected from New York to London.

In the meantime gold continued to reach the United States from a variety of sources. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review", notes that gold shipments from South America and Mexico continued during April and were supplemented late in the month by shipments from France. Gold imported at the Port of New York during April included, it is stated, $14,800,000 from Argentina, $1,200,000 from Mexico, and $3,500,000 from France. At San Francisco $7,600,000 was received from China and $2,700,000 from Japan. Exports were negligible, but there was an increase of $7,500,000 in gold held under earmark for foreign account at the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the Boston Federal Reserve Bank. Accordingly, a net gain to the country's gold stock is estimated of $23,000,000 for the month of April and of $117,000,000 for the year since the 1st of January. As the month closed an additional $15,500,000 of gold was about to enter the country from France. Canadian exchange remained at a discount all through the month.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

The course of French exchange has already been outlined in the remarks above. It was weak here and it was weak at London with respect to Paris. The main reason for this appeared to be the diverting of short-term investments from Paris to London as a result of the maintenance of high open market discounts in London, this constituting an attraction for such short-term investments. Gold flowed here, it has already been stated, in large volume, and the belief of bankers at the end of the month was that with the rise in the sterling rate here on London a gold movement from Paris to London was momentarily in prospect. The gold exports to the United States were the first since February 1927 and the first transfer since the exchange stabilization plan was inaugurated by France in June 1928. Cable transfers at New York on Paris steadily declined during the month, from 3.91⅜ April 1 to 3.90⅞ April 30. A temporary reduction in the cost of shipping gold from France to New York facilitated the export movement to the United States, but after April 25 the freight rate reverted to the earlier level, and yet Franch exchange here manifested renewed weakness. The Bank of France in its return for the week ending April 4 showed a decrease of 19,917,951 francs, the first decrease since April 12 1930, but in the week ending April 11 there was again an increase in amount of 10,775,297 francs, followed, however, by a decrease of 9,004.844 francs in the week ending April 18 and of 482,349,115 francs in the week ending April 25, but with an increase again of 2,000,000 francs in the week ending May 2.

There were no special features in the course of the German reichsmark, though it is to be remarked that a growing feeling of confidence in Germany's future is now in evidence, in direct contrast to the feeling of alarm which prevailed last autumn during the political difficulties of the Government growing out of the unexpected results of the German elections. There were no very important fluctuations in German exchange at this point during the month, the mark following the general course of the European exchanges in showing a downward tendency the first half of April and recovery the last half. On April 1 sales of cable transfers on Berlin were recorded at 23.81½@23.82; from this there was a decline to 23.80½@23,81 April 10; this rate again prevailed on April 14, and still again on April 20, but thereafter the trend was upward, with sales on April 28 at 23.82½@23.82¾, with the rate April 20 at 23.81⅝@23.82. The Bank of Germany, in its statement for the first quarter of April recorded 20,241,000 marks gain in gold, and showed 1,189,000 marks further gain in the second quarter, and 2,672,000 marks gain in the third quarter and 20,899,000 marks in the final quarter of the month. There were no special developments regarding the Italian lira. The fluctuations in the lira were extremely narrow, cable transfers on Italy being quoted on April 30 at 5.23⅝@5.23¾ against 5.23 13/16 on April 1.

In rates on the Continental centers of the countries which remained neutral during the war, the overshadowing feature was of course the slump in the Spanish peseta as a result of the revolutionary uprising in that country and the establishment of a republican form of government. During
